Four Retired Quincy Police Canines Pass Away

By Sgt. KARYN BARKAS
Quincy Police Department

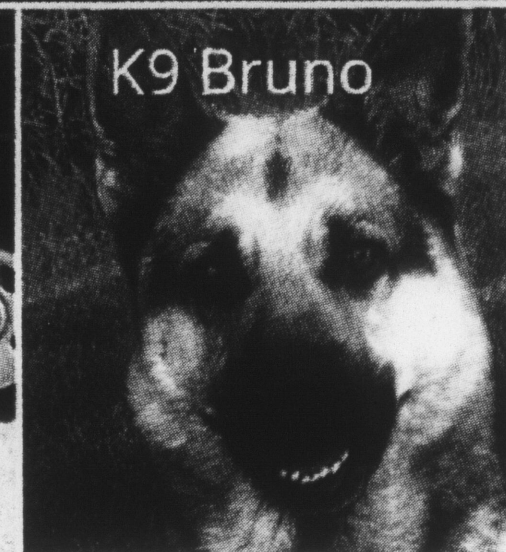

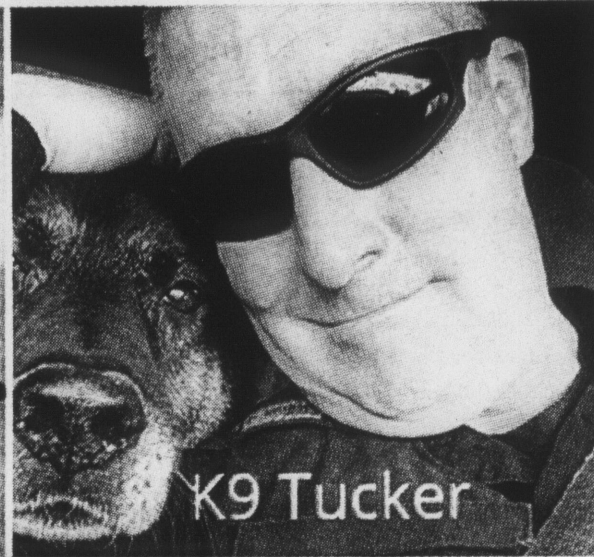

It is with heavy hearts that we announce the recent passing of four of our retired canines: K9 Bruno, K9 Shagi, K9 Tucker, and K9 Deco.

Canine Bruno and Canine Shagi joined the Quincy Police Department in 2008 and served the City of Quincy and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for ten years. They were the first police canines that the department received after Mayor Thomas Koch was elected and kept his promise to bring police dogs back to the department. Both were the first canines in Quincy Police history trained to sniff narcotics. K9 Shagi was the partner of Officer Brian Mahoney and K9 Bruno was the partner of Officer Scott Smith.

Canine Tucker and Canine Deco admirably served the citizens of Quincy and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for 12 years before a well-earned retirement. Canine Tucker was the partner of Officer Chris McDermott and Canine Deco was the partner of Officer David Cooper. Along with former QPD Canines Ronan and Rex, Deco and Tucker were classmates that graduated from the Boston Police Department's Canine Academy and immediately certified both as Explosives Odor Detection (EOD) Canines and as Police Patrol Canines.

One of both K9 Deco's and Tucker's many notable accomplishments during their highly successful careers was their service at the Boston Marathon Bombing Incident. QPD Canines Deco, Tucker, Rex, and Ronan all responded within one hour after the Boston Marathon Bombing occurred. They served with the Boston Police Department for the following six days initially assisting Boston Police Bomb Technicians in securing the Marathon Bombing Crime Scene and later responding to numerous reports of suspicious packages and possible explosive devices that were reported by alarmed citizens both in Boston and in Quincy.

The only surviving EOD canines at the Boston Marathon Bombing incident is EOD Canine Tuff, from the Auburn, MA Police Department, who is still enjoying retirement. We will never know the number of violent acts against our citizens that QPD EOD Canines Deco and Tucker, their fellow EOD Canines in the Metro Boston Region, have deterred or have interrupted from happening.

Canine Bruno's, Canine Shagi's, Canine Tucker's, and Canine Deco's service to our citizens was commendable and unwavering in all aspects.

All of these noble public servants will be missed and always remembered by the Officers of the Quincy Police Department.

Norfolk County Sheriff's Office Receives Grant To Help Break Down Language Barriers For Victims

Norfolk County Sheriff Patrick McDermott announces his office has been awarded a Victim Services Training and Technical Assistance Grant to provide translation services for agency materials and improve language access for victims.

The $1,500 grant was awarded by the Massachusetts Office for Victim Assistance (MOVA), which is an independent state agency overseen by the Victim and Witness Assistance Board.

"The responsibility of the Sheriff's Office is to make sure that we are serving all Norfolk County residents," McDermott said. "Access to translated materials builds trust between communities and helps us better serve the people of Norfolk County. This grant will help us improve services for all residents."

The grant will help the Norfolk County Sheriff's Office support its mission of fostering a climate of diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging by providing crucial information to victims in their primary languages. The NCSO's focus on ensuring the safety of all victims and their families will be supported through this grant, which will make sure that victims are kept informed of their rights and the services available to them.

The NCSO's Victim Services division helps inform victims about their rights and stay aware of important information regarding justice-involved individuals in the Norfolk County Correctional Facility. As a state agency, MOVA advocates for victim rights and services and provides support for agencies and providers that serve victims of crime and their families.

For more information about the Norfolk County Sheriff's Office Victim Assistance plan, visit www.NorfolkSheriff.com/Divisions/Victim-Services. For information about the Massachusetts Office for Victim Assistance, visit www.Mass.gov/MOVA.

Quincy Art Association Open House, Annual Meeting Sunday

The Quincy Art Association will host an open house Sunday, June 13 from 1 to 3 p.m., 24 High School Ave., Quincy. The public is invited to attend the open house which will be held outside on the lawn.

The event will feature plein air painting and a live

Councillors Pause Budget Hearings

By SCOTT JACKSON

City councillors have put their budget hearings on hold to give them a chance to vote on Mayor Thomas Koch's proposal to borrow $475 million to cover Quincy's outstanding pension liabilities beforehand.

The council's finance committee will review the pension bond proposal on June 14 followed by budget hearings on June 16 and 17, Ward 1 Councillor David McCarthy, the chairperson of the committee, told The Sun.

The finance committee, which include all nine councillors, was set to review Koch's proposed $346.65 million general fund budget for the fiscal year that begins July 1 year on a departmental basis on June 2 and 3. Koch prepared his proposed budget with the assumption that councillors would approve his pension bond request, resulting in a savings of $15 or $16 million in fiscal year 2022.

Councillors had met May 27 to discuss the proposed pension bond. They raised questions about the proposal during that meeting but did not vote on the matter.

At the June 2 finance committee meeting, Ward 3 Councillor Ian Cain said his colleagues should vote on the pension proposal before holding the budget hearings. If the proposed $475 million bond is not approved, he said councillors would have to consider a revised budget anew, including a second round of departmental hearings.

"This is a waste of everyone's time, because we need to have a discussion on that 475 and see if it is going to go through because that is dramatically going to affect any decision in the budget and the mayor will probably have to go back and pencil if it doesn't go through," Cain said.

"I think the assumptions here are a little too heavy for us to make any decisions on any section of the budget. The department people who are going to present tonight, I don't think that is fair to them, and we wouldn't want them to come back and do the whole thing again."

Councillor Anne Mahoney said she agreed with Cain that the pension proposal should be considered first.

"We could go through these next two nights, get a lot of work done, find out it doesn't go the way we want it to, and we are all back to the same spot and a lot of people's time and energy was wasted...the public's too," Mahoney said, referring to a scenario where the bond does not pass.

"There is a process that should be happening here, and the 475 should play out first. Once that is cleared out and once we know where we are going with that, then you can go into your budget process."

Ward 6 Councillor William Harris said there are already a number of upcoming events planned for the coming weeks, like high school graduations, and the finance committee should have at least heard from the department heads during last week's meetings.

"This does not make sense that we don't go through at least hearing the folks," Harris said.

"Whatever is going on tonight, I'm not going to judge it or judge it or judge anybody, but I think this is really not acceptable, the fact we're all of a sudden going to say tonight or tomorrow night isn't going to happen."

During the June 2 meeting, McCarthy initially said he wanted to go forward with the June 2 and 3 hearings as planned. Ultimately, he agreed to put them on hold before they began, without putting the matter up for a vote.

"We still have some time and we can talk about the 475 and get it all built into this so then everybody can ask their questions to numbers that aren't going to flip flop at all over the next weeks," McCarthy said.

"I know we have graduations and things on Monday and Tuesday, but I want to make sure we do this as fast as we can so we can get back to this."

Budget hearings for each city department had been scheduled for last week.

The June 2 hearings would have included, among others, the Public Buildings Department; the Traffic, Parking, Alarm and Lighting Department; the Planning Department; the Inspectional Services Department; the Municipal Finance Department; the Emergency Management Department; various budgets under the purview of the City Clerk's Office; and the Thomas Crane Public Library.

On deck for June 3 were the Quincy Police and Fire Departments, the Department of Public Works, the Department of Natural Resources, and the Quincy Public Schools, though the council only sets the bottom line for the school budget. Councillors would have also reviewed their own budget and the budget for the mayor's office June 3.

Quincy College Receives Donation From XS Brokers CEO, Owner

Over $30,000 In Equipment, Office Furniture For Welcome Center

Quincy College President Richard DeCristofaro and student services staff at the college recently welcomed a visit from Adam Devine, CEO and owner of XS Brokers in Quincy, to recognize him for his generous donation to Quincy College.

Adam Devine donated over $30,000 in office equipment and furniture to outfit the new Quincy College Welcome Center located at Presidents Place. Recently the college relocated all of its student service offices to the Welcome Center to better serve current students and those applying to the college.

"With the assistance of XS Brokers and Adam Devine, we were able to complete the Welcome Center and put our student communication team in place there, to best serve students as well," DeCristofaro said. "Adam's incredible generosity is truly appreciated and will help prospective students find an affordable educational opportunity at Quincy College." DeCristofaro then presented a plaque recognizing XS Brokers as a Quincy College Community Partner.

"As a person who grew up in Quincy, graduated from Quincy High, and then located my business here, it is very important to give back to the community I came from," Devine said. "Quincy College is vital to the economic development of Quincy. I am looking forward to partnering with the college on internship opportunities and coordinating efforts to recruit and train future prospects for employment at both XS Brokers and other related industries."

Dept. Of Public Health Summer Safety Guidance

With summer weather here, and as COVID-19 related restrictions on daily activities begin to lift, the Massachusetts Department of Public Health (DPH) reminds residents to take recommended precautions to keep young children safe this summer.

Prevent Tick Bites

Ticks can make you sick when they bite. They are most commonly found in grassy, brushy, or wooded areas. Ticks only attach when you come into direct contact with them — they cannot jump or fly. Follow these steps to help protect yourself from tick bites:

- Check yourself for ticks once a day — it's the single most important thing you can do.
- Use repellents that contain DEET on your exposed skin and those that contain permethrin on your clothes.
- When walking or hiking, stick to main pathways and the center of trails if you can. Brushing against tall grass and bushes will increase your exposure to ticks.
- Weather permitting, wear long-sleeved, light-colored shirts and long pants tucked into socks. This will help keep ticks away from your skin and make it easier to spot ticks on your clothing.

Because dogs and horses are particularly susceptible, talk to your veterinarian about the best ways to protect your animals from tick-borne disease.

Prevent Mosquito Bites

The 2019 and 2020 mosquito seasons were active for Eastern Equine Encephalitis (EEE) in Massachusetts. This mosquito-borne illness appears generally in 2- to 3-year cycles, traditionally peaking during August. The presence of EEE last year, a relatively mild winter, and historical patterns suggest an active season this year.

While the risk for human infection of EEE or West Nile Virus won't happen until later this summer, people have an important role to play in protecting themselves from these illnesses which can be very serious. To prepare for mosquito season:

- Drain standing water in and around your house or yard to prevent mosquito breeding.
- Repair window and door screens to keep mosquitoes out of your home.
- Use a mosquito repellent with an EPA-registered ingredient according to the directions.
- Wear clothing to reduce exposed skin when weather permits.

For more information about preventing mosquito and tickborne illness, visit www.mass.gov/mosquitoesandticks.

Water and Pool Safety

Drowning is a leading cause of death among young children, both nationally and in Massachusetts, with backyard pools posing the highest risk for children under the age of 5. To help prevent water-related injury and drowning:

- Children should be supervised in and around water at all times.
- Whenever infants and toddlers are in or around water, including the bathtub, an adult should be within an arm's length at all times providing "touch supervision."
- Completely separate the house and play area of the yard from the pool area with a fence. Consider automatic door locks or alarms to prevent access.
- Remove floats, balls, and other toys from the pool after use so that children are not tempted to reach for them. After the children are done swimming, secure the pool so they cannot get back in.
- Keep rescue equipment (such as a shepherd's hook or life preserver) and a phone near the pool.

Mass Vaccination Sites Closing Over Next Several Weeks

The Baker-Polito Administration has announced the planned closing dates for mass vaccination sites in the Commonwealth over the next several weeks.

With nearly 3.7 million residents fully vaccinated and over 4.3 million people receiving at least a first dose as of last week, the Administration is focused on increasing targeted community-based vaccine efforts to reach remaining populations.

All mass vaccination vendors will continue to work closely with the Commonwealth as they ramp down operations at mass vaccination sites over the next several weeks. Gillette Stadium, the Hynes Convention Center, the Reggie Lewis Center, Natick Mall, and the Doubletree in Danvers will finish operations by the end of June. The Eastfield Mall in Springfield and the former Circuit City in Dartmouth will remain open into July. CIC Health and Curative will continue to support community mobile sites, including on-site employer and school clinics.

The Commonwealth's mass vaccination sites have jointly administered over 1.7 million doses and played an instrumental role in getting residents vaccinated. Today, Massachusetts is a nationwide leader in vaccination, with 79% of all adult residents and 2/3 of all residents having received at least one dose. There are over 900 locations available in every region of Massachusetts. The COVID-19 vaccine is free, and individuals do not need insurance or an ID to get the vaccine.

Currently planned closing dates at each of our mass vaccination sites, all dates are subject to change:

In public swimming areas:

- Select swimming sites that have lifeguards whenever possible, and swim only in designated swimming areas.
- Always swim with a buddy.
- Look for signage at beaches. DPH collects beach water quality data and notifies the public about bacteria levels to minimize swimming-associated illness and injury.

Window Safety

Falls are the leading cause of injury to children and falls from windows involving young children are especially serious. Window falls are preventable. Screens are not strong enough to protect children from falling out of windows. To prevent window falls, parents and caregivers should:

- Keep furniture — and anything a child can climb on — away from windows.
- Open windows from the top, not the bottom, when possible and lock all unopened doors and windows.
- Be sure children are always supervised.
- Install quick-release window guards which can be found in most hardware stores.

To learn more about childhood injury prevention, visit the DPH injury prevention and control program website.

Additional tips on preventing falls among children can be found on the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention fall prevention website.

Car Safety

The inside of a vehicle can be a very dangerous place for children left inside. In the summer months in New England, the temperature in a closed car can rise quickly and the vehicle can become a deadly place for a child, left even for just a moment.

To keep young children safe in and around cars:

- Never leave children alone in a parked vehicle, even when they are asleep or restrained, and even if the windows are open.
- Always check inside the vehicle - front and back - before locking the door and walking away.
- If a child is missing, check your vehicle first, including the trunk.
- Do things to remind yourself that a child is in the vehicle, such as placing your purse or briefcase in the back seat so you will check the back seat when you leave the vehicle.
- Always lock your car and keep the keys out of children's reach.
- Ensure adequate supervision when children are playing in areas near parked motor vehicles.

If you see a child alone in a hot vehicle, call the police. If they are in distress due to heat, get them out as quickly as possible and call 911 immediately.

Remember, all children ages 12 and under should ride in the back seat, properly restrained, even during quick errand trips. Infants and toddlers should remain in rear-facing car seats until they reach the highest weight or height allowed by their car safety seat manufacturer. At a minimum, children should ride rear-facing until they are at least one year old and weigh at least 20 pounds. You can find more information on child passenger safety on the DPH website.

WHY NOT BUY THE BEST AT BUICK'S LOW COST?

$1074

5 Passenger Sedan Delivered in Quincy

THIS POSTCARD was published in 1940 by the South Shore Buick Company to mark the opening of their new building on Adams Street in Quincy Center. Sleek looking new Buicks can be seen in the new showroom windows. Founded in 1923, the company was in business for 86 years until it closed in March 2009. A message on the back of the postcard claims that Buick outsold all other automobiles except the three lowest priced cars at the time. They were Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth. When South Shore Buick closed, Buick's market share had slipped to 1% of U.S. auto sales. Today, this site at 50 Adams St. is home to a Planet Fitness.

Quincy Farmers' Market A Win-Win Opportunity

Dear Editor:

I was pleased to learn that the Quincy Farmers' Market will now return to Quincy Center to the civic area now named The Kilroy Square, the former Hancock parking lot. It is well designed and feels welcoming; also an opportunity for many other open air activities. Welcome back!

Although the Merrymount Park has served well the Quincy Farmers' Market for several years, while the Quincy Center has been under construction. If that market is not to continue, it will be missed by hundreds of avid customers who became accustomed to the park and its ambiance. It has the view of the Quincy Bay and the children's playgrounds as well as the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre for performances and offered plenty of free parking.

Perhaps, if there are more farmers interested to serve the growing Quincy population, the Merrymount Park Market may be another opportunity for that area of Quincy as well.

Now, once again Quincy Center is an ideal location for the Market. It is pedestrian friendly for the area residents all around the area. And if one needs parking that is also next to the Market. When all opportunities are explored, perhaps the customary one hour of free parking can be implemented for the Farmers' Market customers.

Quincy Farmers' Market was established more than forty years ago. Then City Planning Director, Mr. Robert Luongo, was my partner establishing the Market. I am pleased to that the legacy is alive and that Quincy Chamber of Commerce has taken a leadership role. It is fun and rewarding work and extraordinary opportunity for the Massachusetts farming community.

I can see the Quincy Restaurant League once again take advantage of the Farmers' Market and perhaps the Market can feature a chef of the week featuring the vegetable of the season, or celebrating the local tomatoes and even hosting the tomato or peach festival, or celebrate the Massachusetts Farmers' Market week, declared annually by the Governor. It is all there for to explore and learn what is growing and celebrate the seasons.

Farmers' Markets are a win-win opportunity for surrounding businesses as well as the farming community. Farmers are protectors and stalwarts of our open spaces without using tax dollars. Every time we shop locally we support regional economy. The important thing is that the fruits and vegetable at the Farmers' Market have suffered no jet lag!

Best wishes for the Quincy Farmers Market. I look forward to seeing our farmers again.

Reader Responds: It Could Be Worse Mr. Giarratani

This is in respectful response to Mr. Giarratani's dismay at the thought of a new 16-story building in North Quincy. Rightly so, I say. But it could always be worse, Mr. Giarratani.

I live in the middle of South Quincy, near the intersection of Centre and Copeland Street. We're a neighborhood deeply affected by the Southeast Expressway slicing it in half, even to this day. Our mayor calls this the "economically disadvantaged" area, which really just means where the poor people live.

You could come by and see how Copeland Street turns into a dragstrip at night. You could come by and hope that you don't get plastered by the speeding MBTA buses trying to stay on-schedule. You could look at our brand new telephone poles, and then look at the chopped up and broken old poles the contractors left behind in the already-broken cement sidewalks.

I recommend not taking a shot of booze everytime you see a 18-wheeler barrel past my home, or an excavation truck haul yet another bulldozer down residential streets at high rates of speed. If you get drunk from all those shots, though, the parade of loud ambulances down Copeland Street has you covered.

You see, it could always be worse, Mr. Giarratani. You could live in the "economically disadvantaged" part of a city with so much revitalization. (At least where the people who have economical advantages live.)

Pops Concert Friday, Koch Flag Day Parade Saturday

A two-day "Pre-Summerfest," sponsored by the Koch Club, began Friday, June 13 with an outdoor Pops concert and concluded Saturday, June 14 with the 27th annual Koch Club Flag Day Parade and Celebration.

The weekend events were planned to commemorate the 350th anniversary of the founding of Mount Wollaston and the 200th anniversary of the nation's birth.

Major General George S. Patton, commander of the Army Readiness Region One at Fort Devens, was the grand marshal in the Flag Day Parade.

Patton was the youngest of three children of World War II General George S. Patton, "old blood and guts," as he was known to the men he commanded.

The parade will conclude at Veterans' Memorial Stadium with a flag raising ceremony and brief program to end the festivities.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS INSTALL NEW OFFICERS

The Quincy League of Women Voters elected new officers at a meeting held in Walsh's Restaurant, North Quincy. They included: Mrs. Janet Poole, 125 Winthrop Ave., Wollaston, president, Mrs. Chris Morrison, 18 Perkins St., West Quincy, first vice-president, Mrs. Sheila de Bettancourt, 85 Baxter Ave., Quincy Point, second vice-president, Mrs. Kathye Foster, 16 Bromfield St., Wollaston, treasurer, Mrs. Grace Ritam, 268 Harvard St., Wollaston, corresponding secretary and Mrs. James O'Brien, 260 Elmwood Ave., Wollaston, recording secretary.

QUINCYISMS

Miss Joan St. Angelo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James St. Angelo, 14 Sextant Circle, Germantown, was selected as a finalist in the 1975 Miss Massachusetts Teenager Pageant... Angelo Coletti and Jo Libertina were members of a committee planning the 30th anniversary of the Quincy High School Class of 1945... Howard Gunnison, Jr., Scholarship Chairman for the Quincy Kiwanis Club, announced six scholarship awards to high school graduates. They included: Maureen White, Deborah A. McFetridge, Catherine E. Hodgkins, Mark Moriarty, Heather Paulson and Karen E. Hewitt... Mayor Walter J. Hannon was scheduled to be the guest speaker at the June 18 meeting of the residents of 1000 Southern Artery... Four Quincy students were inducted into the Alpha Nu Omega Honor Society at Massasoit Community College. They included Dorothy A. Clark, Richard A. DaSilva, Michael O'Hanley and John P. Pedranti... The Quincy Sun's Sunbeams Column reported that Quincy activist and former elementary school teacher, Patricia Toland, was planning to announce her candidacy for the Quincy School Committee. (Editor's note: She won.)... A son was born to Ward Four Councilor James A. Sheets and his wife Joann Sheets. The baby, born at Quincy City Hospital, weighing in a 7lbs, 11oz, was named Luke Eric... Eight young people were confirmed at Bethany Congregational Church. They were: David L. Carr, Catherine Cassel, Edward W. Fenby, Jonathan B. Green, Timothy Hall, William D. Ross, Janice Siddens and Denise Van Dine... "Uncle Roy" of Roy's Flowers, said "To Charge Your Flowers on One of Your Major Credit Cards by Phone"... Rinaldi's Bakery, 12 Beale St., Wollaston, was offering "Fresh Baked Italian and French Bread. Our Bakers are originally from the North End"... The State Banking Commission has approved the application of the Quincy Co-Operative Bank to open a branch at 1000 Southern Artery, Quincy Point... Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti was the guest speaker at the graduation ceremonies at Quincy Junior College. In his remarks, Bellotti noted: "The invasion of privacy may very well be the most important issue of the next 10 years." Some 268 graduates received degrees and certificates... Thomas McDonald, 24 Vershire St., North Quincy, was named parade coordinator by Mayor Walter J. Hannon... John A. Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Andrews, 63 Bay St., Squantum, received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Nasson College, Springvale, ME... Dianne M. King, 15 Tyler St., North Quincy, won a contest to determine the fastest and most accurate typist at Boston Gas Company. King was a 1972 graduate of North Quincy High School... Grand Knight Edward Keohane of the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Council awarded four scholarships to Catholic high school students. They were Kathleen Connolly, Kathleen Norton, Daniel Cronin and Daniel Gorman.

Dr. Fred Calef III Headlines South Shore Science Festival

April 24 Day Proclaimed For Chief Cartographer For NASA's Mars Project

By KATHY HOGAN
South Shore Science Festival

Ward 6 Councilor Bill Harris introduced Dr. Calef and read to him Mayor Koch's proclamation of April 24 as Dr. Fred Calef III Day.

We learned, first and foremost, that as "Keeper of the Maps" Dr. Calef named two sites on the Gale Crater on Mars for his hometown: Quincy, Mars and Squantum, Mars! That's where the Curiosity rover landed several years ago. It's pretty obvious why he chose Quincy: that's his hometown, and it has a rich history of granite quarrying. But why Squantum in particular? There is special rock there called Cambridge argillite and Roxbury conglomerate, or pudding-stone. This stone is also found in northwest Africa where America and Africa were long ago connected in one landmass, called Pangea.

We learned that humans one day could live on Mars, but only for 2 to 12 months, due to physical problems caused by reduced gravity. We learned about a wide range of occupations and skill sets needed in NASA's various teams – in addition to the obvious scientists, engineers, astronauts, and IT people – such as artists, graphics designers, and writers. Kasha Patel, science writer for NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center, also runs DC Science Comedy and conducted the interview with Calef.

A past student at Lincoln-Hancock School, Sterling Middle School and Quincy High School, Dr. Calef became interested in rocks and earth science when his grandfather opened his eyes to the story that an ordinary rock can tell and from visits to a quarry near his home in southwest Quincy. The number of questions Calef was asked gave a good idea of the interest people have in the Mars program. South Shore kids in particular may want to investigate this further, inspired by someone local who has succeeded in this field.

National Anthem - The science festival was officially opened in Part 2 with Sofia Marietta Hurley singing The Star-Spangled Banner – as she has for so many years as a young girl in the early days of the South Shore Science Festival. Sofia allowed this tradition to be continued in a science festival which was anything but traditional this year!

Science Fair Projects - Four students from Saint Agatha School, Milton, presented their science fair projects with an Earth Day theme. Adriana Joassainte, grade 5, explored water pollution and its effect on the environment. She explained the difference between plastic pollution and chemical pollution. Jacob Gratch, grade 6, showed us how to desalinate water. Dermot White, grade 7, explained that we should know what soil is made of and described six types of soil. Chloe McGrath, grade 8, compared tap water plus different brands of bottled water and shared her findings on their water purity.

Tinker & Create concluded Part 2 with Doug Tepe, partner of Etay Armon. He demonstrated their 3D modeling program, inviting kids to sign up for SketchUp so they could follow along with him, and he showed them how to make an .stl file. They can then bring this on a thumb drive (memory stick) to some libraries for printing.

Going back to Part 1, the virtual festival got under way with Quincy Police Chief Paul Keenan.

Quincy Police Chief Paul Keenan hopes young people consider entering the scientific field as forensic technicians. They analyze DNA from crime scenes and use a database to compare it with others, similar to the way fingerprints are handled. Technological devices include police radios, body cams for the police officers, and video cameras. He gave an example of the ability of facial recognition technology to work well, even with a mask, when it was tested on himself!

Next was "Our Rainbow Earth: Light and Color – and Trees." Collaborators were Kathy Hogan of Gateway to Science: Sports and Games; Mary Flowers, local artist; and Chia Ming Chen of E-Green. Waving to the audience was a lead-in to light waves. Ms. Flowers read Alan Baker's White Rabbit's Color Book about pigment-based color; when all such colors are mixed, it produces black. (After Hogan made the Claim that mixing all the colors of light, on the other hand, produces white, Chen provided the Evidence with the E-Prism lamp, demonstrating part of the Scientific Method. A DVD or CD is a readily available way to learn about reflection and refraction (white light breaking into the colors of the rainbow, the color spectrum). It was explained how blue light wavelengths enter water and the water reflects these back to your eyes, which pass the information to the brain, which interprets the color as blue. It's the same with plants and how they look green. However, plants absorb other color wavelengths, and the chlorophyll changes them to food – photosynthesis. An art activity was suggested to reinforce this.

That was the foundation for the next two presentations. Storyteller Judith Black's stories provided a fine segue. She told a story that kids could participate in with I'm A Tree, We Are Kin, then gave them something to think about with Spider And The Palm-Nut Tree. Quincy Tree Alliance/Quincy Climate Action Network continued this with a reading of The Lorax, which is about saving trees, then took us to the Wakefield Arboretum in Milton to show us how to get a tree started. Syndie Cine, Maggie McKee, Fay Strigler and Joe Murphy collaborated on this. They and Judith Black are helping kids to be more aware of the importance of trees – and all plants, for that matter.

THE LORAX by Dr. Seuss was read to teach the importance of caring for trees.

State Sen. John Keenan addressed the viewers at the end of Part 1. He stressed the importance of science and technology in solving our climate issues. Massachusetts is a leader in science and technology, and among these firms is Moderna, whose Covid vaccine is helping to protect so many of us now. He cited the MBTA that two years ago was planning a new bus depot for diesel buses in Quincy but, after people made their views known, there are plans now for hybrid buses. Keenan thanked kids for their interest in STEM and urged them to keep it up, saying, "Our future is in your hands. Your future is in your hands."

Quincy native Marsha Goodman-Wood of Marsha & the Positrons, Washington, D.C., brought her love for science and music to kids and their families. Her enthusiasm and inviting way comes through loud and clear and makes you want to dance and sing right along! Due to time constraints with a virtual festival, her performances needed to be split up, but now you can watch Marsha on her own separate video. It was such a great complement to the speakers' topics:

- Fred Calef, Mars (Why Can't You Dance On Jupiter?)
- Peter Doherty, viruses (Nobody Likes Viruses And Germs)
- Kathy, gravity in games (Gravity Vacation)

MARSHA GOODMAN-WOOD sings Gravity Vacation to complement Kathy Hogan's call to help kids riding on playground slides to understand gravity.

Quincy Fire Chief Joe Jackson opened Part 3.

Fire Chief Joe Jackson presented what is referred to in his field of work as turnout gear, his bunker coat, an item that most of us might overlook amid all the impressive equipment on a fire truck. However, every firefighter is protected by this coat because of how it is made. The outer shell of the coat contains the heat-resistant fiber Kevlar, with crisscross fibers which are cut-resistant. The middle layer is a moisture barrier. It is attached to the inner thermal layer which helps protect the firefighter from heat; called Glide fabric, it is smooth and makes the bunker coat easy to put on, saving time when responding to a call – when seconds count. Chief Jackson expressed his pleasure at being part of the science festival.

Manuel Barroso, co-chair, of Positive BCS asks, "Why do engineers and scientists have all the fun jobs?" He revealed the many interesting fields they can work in, such as working with drones, remote control toys, smart sport devices, bridges, energy-saving devices, and self-driving cars. He explained there are differences among artificial intelligence (AI), machine learning, and deep learning. Applied AI can be used in the fields of education, retail, robotics, automotive, and with Alexa. As an example of the Internet of Things (IoT), he introduced the Samsung SmartSuit for speed skaters; if the skater's posture is a little off, the SmartSuit communicates with the coach who in turn sends a vibration to the skater's wrist.

Barroso asks viewers, "What will you invent?"

Kathy Hogan of Gateway to Science: Sports and Games explained how kids can learn physics from the ground up – literally in the playground! She gave examples such as learning about gravity on the slide. She urged the establishment of C.A.M.P.S. – a Center for the Advancement of Math and Physics through Sports. She believes there is a lot of business potential for such a revolutionary approach, especially if professional sports organizations get involved.

Boston Scientific, represented by Raju Kavalla, Zaki Ahmed Syed and Helga Barroso, showed us how medical instruments improve the quality of life and save lives. We saw videos of special instruments used for removing gallstones, opening blocked arteries with balloon dilation, and stimulating the spinal cord to relieve chronic pain. Their STEM Club is open to employees' kids. There are field trips to Boston Scientific for students in the Quincy Public Schools, and some workshop topics that are offered include smart cities, life and nature, the universe, and Legos.

Bobbie Carlton of Innovation Women and Mass. Innovation Nights. Bobbie Carlton concluded Part 3 with her message that STEM needs spokespersons – to add the A in STEAM. That's the reason that several years ago she, along with other social media people, were invited to Florida by NASA to view the SpaceX-4 cargo resupply flight to the International Space Station and went on tours of the facilities there. Not an engineer or scientist herself but passionate about the need to communicate, she explained the different kinds of speaking, including a way that is available to members of an audience, and that is to ask questions. It's one way to get started and gain confidence. She described different kinds of roles in this field such as entertainer, journalist, teacher, and marketing. Carlton started a new magazine since the pandemic began, Lioness, for female entrepreneurs.

Part 3 ended at the festival's usual closing time – 3 p.m. However, Part 4 at 7:30 p.m. was added this year to accommodate the time in Australia.

DR. PETER DOHERTY, Nobel Laureate in Physiology or Medicine, 1996.

Nobel Laureate Dr. Peter Doherty. Dr. Doherty of Melbourne, Australia was introduced by Dr. Edward Shapiro of Nobel Laureates' School Visits. Co-Chair Barroso and Dr. Shapiro welcomed Dr. Doherty, an immunologist, whose work concerns viruses and vaccines.

What are the hit men of immunity? We learned: Killer T-cells! Produced in the Thymus gland (under the breastbone), they roam around inside the body to destroy cancer cells and viruses, such as the coronavirus. Listening to Dr. Doherty, it soon becomes clear there's a relationship between our internal environment (our health) and our external environment (Earth's health – plus ours). A few years ago there was a Nobel Laureate symposium on global sustainability.

Doherty explained that our defense comes in two forms: 1) Our central nervous system (brain, spinal cord, nerves), which

Looking For A Feline Friend?

*Some Tips For Adopt A Shelter Cat Month
From Best Friends Animal Society*

Cats star in some of the most viral videos on the Internet and some even grow to celebrity status on Instagram with millions of followers (looking at you, Nala Cat). Yet some of the coolest cats remain undiscovered at shelters and rescues across the country. Since cats are also the most at-risk pets across America, accounting for 69% of animals killed in shelters, it's crucial to find them loving homes.

Adopt a Shelter Cat Month takes place every June to highlight the immense need for cat adoptions and why a shelter is the best place to find your next feline friend.

"By adopting a cat, you're not only saving that particular cat, but you also make space for the next cat coming into a shelter," said Samantha Bell, cat expert at Best Friends Animal Society. "Adoption is also very cost-effective, as cats are usually fixed, vaccinated, microchipped and ready to go home with you for one low fee."

According to Bell, cats make great pets for just about anyone. "Whether you are hardly ever home or you are a total couch potato, there's a 'purrfect' cat waiting for you at a shelter or rescue," she added.

Bell offers the following tips on how to pick the right cat or kitten for your lifestyle:

- Busy? There are cats for that: Shelters and rescues often have two adult cats who have grown up together and would be happy to go home together. It's heartwarming to see a pair of cats who are already friends get to stay together. And while you're away, they'll have each other for company and security.

- Extroverts need love, too: If you are home quite often, then you'll have more time to play with an active kitty who needs lots of wand toy play time. Some cats can even be trained to walk on a leash or go for stroller rides.

- Consider a solo artist: There are many cats who are great with people but terrified of other cats. They don't always make a great first impression on potential adopters, especially if they're in a shelter surrounded by other cats. But once they're in a home with you, they'll flourish.

- Involve the whole family: It's important to take everyone in the home, especially children, to meet all prospective cats so you can observe how they interact with the cat. Every child has their own unique energy, and every pet reacts differently to every child.

- Keep an open mind: Don't get hung up on color, sex or age. Not all cats' personalities fit into stereotypes. Every cat is an individual, so don't discount a cat because they aren't male or female or orange or fluffy. By doing so, you'll have the best odds of finding a great match.

Still not certain? Give the shelter team an opportunity to play matchmaker.

"Talk to the staff and volunteers at the shelter about your lifestyle. Let them know if you live with others, including any pets, as well as who/what you come in contact with on a regular basis, and let them guide you to the cats that they think would mesh well with your life," Bell said.

With kitten season in full swing, many people will be tempted to adopt one (and let's be honest, it's hard not to succumb to that level of cuteness). But as Bell noted, kittens require an extra level of care.

"Kittens are adorable but be aware that they are more work than an adult cat. Kittens need to be fed more often and use the litter box much more often," she said. "Single kittens need lots of positive reinforcement training so that they don't end up being bitey or scratchy adults."

That is why Best Friends encourages adopters to open their home to a pair of kittens, if possible. Bell explained why. "All cats have to bite and scratch; it's feline instinct," she said. "A pair of kittens learns that biting and scratching is something they should do to each other during playtime, and not to their humans."

Cliff, Carol Hallet Celebrate 60th Wedding Anniversary

Cliff and Carol Hallett, formerly of Houghs Neck in Quincy, recently celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary with a small family gathering at their new home at Weymouth.

The meal was a catered turkey dinner with all the traditional side dishes. For dessert they enjoyed a delicious cake and assorted pastries. The tables decorated with colorful bouquets of flowers. Music was arranged by their grandson Ian and photos were taken by Ian's fiancé, Alexandria Cordiner.

The Halletts were married at Union Congregational Church in Wollaston on May 28, 1961. They lived in the Houghs Neck section of Quincy for 60 years and raised their family there.

Mr. Hallett is a retired electrical contractor and owned Hallett Electrical Service in Quincy. Mrs. Hallett retired from Harvard Pilgrim Health Care and was a former long-time employee of Continental Cable in Quincy. They have two children, Carrie MacLean (husband Jeff) of South Weymouth and Chad Hallett (wife Jennifer) of Pembroke. They also have three grandchildren: Ian and Sean MacLean of Weymouth and Laura Hallett of Pembroke and University of Maine/Orono.

The Halletts are long-time members of the Houghs Neck Congregational Church and were very active in the community until moving to South Weymouth in 2020. The couple wishes to thank their family and friends for all the love and well wishes sent to them on their special day.

June Facts: Did You Know?

By MARIE D'OLIMPIO

Is it June so soon? We wait all year for this beautiful month.

Did you know that June was once called Junius from the Roman Goddess Juna, wife of Jupiter? In the early days, the month of June had 29 days and it was Julius Caesar who added the extra day, giving June 30 days.

June is the first day of summer – it also has the longest day of the year – and in June we celebrate Flag Day.

The world's most famous duck, Donald Duck, was created on June 9, 1934 when he appeared in a cartoon called the "Wise Little Hen."

In June the first gas-powered automobile was patented and the drink, Coca Cola was invented. In June of 1863 Thomas Edison got a patent for a stereographic recorder. In June of 1907, the jet engine was invented.

The calendar was invented in June of 1502 by Pope Gregory XIII and calendars are still being used to this day.

In June of 1832 a young writer named Victor Hugo was strolling through the district of Les Halles in Paris when all of a sudden he heard gunshots. He found a place to hide while the King's soldiers were firing on what they called Republican Rebels as the battles finally moved away, he was able to escape. These moments stayed with him for the rest of his life and 13 years later Hugo began working on a novel, set in Paris it was called Les Misérables.

The success of the musical on Broadway and the recent film Les Misérables is considered Hugo's best work. The song from that writing was called "I Dreamed A Dream."

June is also known as a great month to get married. The term "June Bride" comes from back in the day when people could not bath in the winter months and disease was prevalent. Men hesitated to marry until June when women could finally bath. When they did marry, they carried flowers to enhance their body odor. That tradition still exists today.

Another important reason that June Brides became so famous was that the bride could recover quickly and be ready to work for the fall harvest.

After the isolation that we all had to endure this past year let's all enjoy this beautiful month every day!

Manage Mosquitoes To Better Enjoy Your Outdoor Space

By MELINDA MYERS

Dine, play, and enjoy your outdoor spaces more than ever this year by managing annoying and disease-spreading mosquitoes. Use a multifaceted approach to boost your enjoyment and help keep mosquitoes away.

Plan your outdoor activities when mosquitoes are less active. Females are the ones looking for a blood meal and are most active at dusk and dawn when looking for warmth and food.

Screened-in porches add a layer of protection but only when they are intact and properly sealed. The same applies to your home. Check screens and seals around doors and windows to help keep these pests from entering your home. Use bug lights in light fixtures by entryways and in outdoor entertainment spaces. These emit yellow light that is not as attractive to mosquitoes and other insects. Bug lights will not eliminate every unwanted insect but will reduce the number visiting your lights at night and finding their way into your home.

Enhance the ambience and reduce mosquito issues when entertaining outdoors. Use a fan to create a cooler space and keep these weak flyers away. Provide fragrant subtle lighting with citronella oil and scented candles. Scatter them throughout the area and within a few feet of the guests for short-term relief.

Reduce the overall mosquito population in your yard by eliminating their breeding grounds. Empty water that collects in items left outside. Change the water in your birdbath at least weekly or whenever you water your container gardens. Add a bubbler or pump to keep water moving in fountains and ponds so mosquito larvae cannot survive.

Toss an organic mosquito control like Mosquito Dunks and Bits (SummitResponsibleSolutions.com) in your rain barrel, pond, or other water feature. Mosquito Bits quickly knock down the mosquito larval population, while the Mosquito Dunks provide 30 days of control. The active ingredient is Bacillus thuringiensis israelensis, a naturally occurring soil bacterium that kills the mosquito larvae but is safe for children, fish, pets, beneficial insects, and wildlife.

Keep your landscape looking its best by managing weeds and grooming neglected gardens. This eliminates some of the resting spaces for hungry adult mosquitoes.

Always protect yourself whenever outdoors. Cover as much of your skin as possible with loose fitting, light colored clothing. Mosquitoes are less attracted to the lighter colors and cannot readily reach your skin through loose clothing.

Further protect yourself by using a personal repellent approved by the EPA. For those looking for DEET-free options, the Center for Disease Control and Prevention has approved products with the active ingredient picaridin, IR3535, and the synthetic oil of lemon and eucalyptus. Check the label for a list of active ingredients and safety recommendations when shopping for mosquito repellents. Avoid products that contain both sunscreen and insect repellent since you need to apply sunscreen more often than the repellent.

Spending more time outdoors is good for our mind, body, and spirit. Using a combination of mosquito-managing tactics will allow you to enjoy and benefit from your time outdoors.

Layered Cod Casserole

By MARIE

Whenever I talk with family or friends, invariably we talk about food – some of them will tell me what they cooked for dinner or some recipe they recently found. My family sporadically will bring me a taste of their latest dish.

Recently my niece, Jean, brought me her latest creation, a layered cod fish casserole with sweet potatoes, and so I am sharing this delicious dish with all of you!

Pre-heat oven to 375 degrees; prepare 8 x 11 or if not available 9 x 13 baking dish

Ingredients:

2 pounds cod
5 sweet potatoes, peeled and sliced (or potato of your choice)

2-3 large onions, sliced
½ cup olive oil
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley
1 ½ teaspoons crushed red pepper flakes
1 teaspoon paprika
3 tablespoons tomato sauce

In an 8 x 11 or 9 x 13 casserole dish, layer half the potato slices, all of the cod, and all of the onions.

Top with remaining potato slices.

In a small bowl, mix together olive oil, garlic, parsley, pepper flakes, paprika, and tomato sauce.

Pour evenly over casserole.

Place in an oven preheated oven to 375 degrees and bake for 45 minutes, or until potatoes are tender.

Almond Flour Muffins

By SUZIE

Here is a very, very simple recipe that is made with just a few ingredients taken from a wonderful baker named Elena from Elena's pantry. She is on a special low carb diet and only uses almond or coconut flour for her baked goods.

This muffin is very versatile. You can add in berries or whatever you like.

Basically this is a "basic" muffin recipe, just using almond flour and not wheat flour, high in protein and fiber. Make sure you get "blanched" almond flour because the unblanched is too heavy and oily. I like the Honeyville brand the best. This brand is only sold online, but worth it. It is very light and fluffy and produces a far better baked good.

RECIPE

4 ounces blanched almond flour (not almond meal) (about 1 cup)
4 ounces eggs (about 2 large eggs)
1 ounce honey (around 1 tablespoon)
¼ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon apple cider vinegar

INSTRUCTIONS

In a medium bowl, combine almond flour and baking soda.

In a large bowl combine eggs, honey and vinegar.

Stir dry ingredients into wet, mixing until combined.

Scoop about ¼ cup of batter at a time into a paper lined muffin pan

Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes, until slightly browned around the edges

Cool in the pan for ½ hour.

Serve with butter and jam.

Social Security Matters

Will My Retirement Benefits Be Cut Because Of My State Pension?

By RUSSELL GLOOR
National Social Security Advisor
At the AMAC Foundation, The Non-Profit Arm
Of the Association of Mature American Citizens

Dear Rusty: I took early retirement at 20 years from the Louisiana public school system in 1996. Since then, I have continued to work in private schools (except for 2 years in public). I now have over 20 years in the Social Security system. Are they going to take money out of my tiny early LA retirement check or lower my Social Security check? Is it true I can continue working and draw Social Security? I have reached full retirement age - I am 68. Signed: State Retiree

Dear State Retiree: There are 27 U.S. states (including Louisiana) which, to varying degrees, do not require state employees to contribute to the Federal Social Security program. Retirees in those states with a pension earned while not contributing to Social Security, and who still earn enough Social Security credits (from other work) to be eligible for Social Security benefits, are affected by a regulation known as the Windfall Elimination Provision (WEP), which reduces the amount of your Social Security payment. So, the answer to your question is yes, your Social Security benefit will be reduced as a result of your LA state pension and WEP (your LA retirement benefit won't be affected).

The amount of the reduction to your Social Security benefit will depend upon the number of years of "significant" earnings you have contributing to the Social Security (SS) program. With 20 or fewer years of SS-covered earnings, you would incur the maximum WEP reduction, which is either a) 50% of your LA State pension amount, or b) the maximum WEP reduction for your "eligibility year" (the year you turned 62, which I believe was 2015). In the case of b), the maximum WEP reduction to your Social Security benefit would be $413/month.

Since you say you have "over 20 years" contributing to Social Security, be aware that the size of the WEP reduction to your SS will be smaller for each year over 20 that you have significant SS-covered earnings. For example, with 21 years of SS earnings your WEP reduction would be $371/month; with 25 years of SS contributions your WEP reduction would be $206/month; and with 30 years of SS contributions, WEP would no longer apply. As you can see, the WEP reduction to your SS benefit decreases proportionally with each year over 20 that you have significant earnings and contribute to Social Security, and WEP disappears with 30 years of significant SS earnings.

Be aware that WEP will not affect you until you are collecting both your LA state pension and your Social Security benefit, and that for each full year you continue to work and contribute to Social Security the WEP reduction will diminish. And since you've passed your full retirement age you can collect Social Security and work without your SS benefits being affected. But, in any case, you shouldn't delay claiming your Social Security benefit past age 70 because that is when your SS benefit will reach maximum.

Appointments For In-person Transactions Continuing At RMV Locations

Face Coverings Still Required If Unvaccinated

The Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles (RMV) announces that many of the new initiatives that were put in place to provide additional flexibility for its customers during the COVID-19 pandemic, will continue as COVID-19 restrictions lifted May 29.

RMV customers will continue to be served by appointments only at open Service Centers, and customers who are unvaccinated will be required to wear a face covering for transactions. In addition, the RMV will continue with including dedicated hours on Wednesdays to serve senior citizens at some locations, holding suspension hearings by phone, allowing learner's permit tests online, and using state vehicles for anyone taking road tests. (Everyone in a vehicle for a road test must wear a face covering, regardless of vaccination status.)

Gov. Charlie Baker signed an Executive Order last month terminating the Commonwealth's State of Emergency effective June 15. The Order also rescinded most COVID-19 restrictions, including limitations placed on businesses, as of May 29 as Massachusetts neared the goal of vaccinating four million residents. The Commonwealth has passed the 3.6 million mark for fully vaccinated residents.

The Registry's partner for many transactions, AAA, will also continue with the system of serving AAA members who make appointments.

Initiatives Remaining in Place as of June 1:

- Appointments for in-person transactions at open customer service locations will continue, and customers must wear a face covering for an in-person transaction if unvaccinated.

- Senior hours for customers 65 years of age and older on Wednesdays at specific locations will continue.

- Road tests will still be offered using state vehicles only. Road test sponsors will be required to be in the road test vehicle beginning on Tuesday, June 15. Everyone in a road test vehicle must wear a face covering regardless of vaccination status.

- Registration Drop Off Centers for drop off and pick up service for vehicle transactions will continue.

- Online learner's permit exams will continue and customers must still make an in-person appointment for the application process.

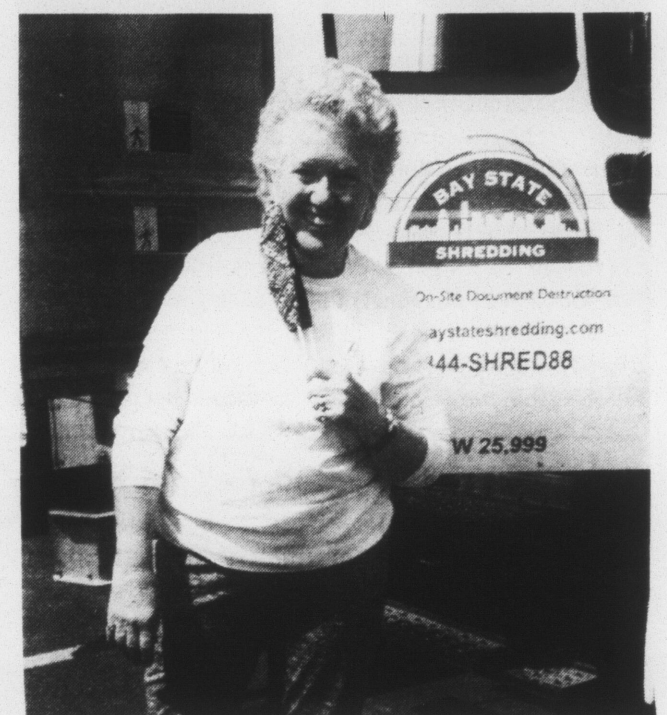

- Suspension hearings by telephone will continue.

Executive Orders Rescinded:

- The period of time to transfer a vehicle registration will once again be 7 calendar days from the date a person disposes of a vehicle to register the new one. (During the pandemic, a longer grace period was given of 21 days. As of May 29, the 7-day calendar timeline went into effect which was pre-pandemic policy.)

- As of May 29, in-vehicle observation hours for Junior Operators reverted back to Driving Schools for applicants who obtained a learner's permit on or after 5/29/2021 requiring junior operators to complete 6 hours observing another student driver, and 40 supervised driving hours with a parent or guardian. (This was the rule pre-pandemic.)

Bank Of Canton's Shred Day Supports Interfaith Social Services' Food Pantry

Bank of Canton collected 364 food and personal care items for Interfaith Social Services' food pantry during the bank's free "Community Shred Day" event, held May 22 at its 60 McGrath Highway branch in Quincy.

While there was no cost to participate, eventgoers were encouraged to bring three non-perishable food items to help support the food pantry.

"Our communities have always shown strong support for our neighbors in need," said Stephen P. Costello, president and CEO of Bank of Canton. "We appreciated seeing so many people donating items and seizing the opportunity to reduce their risk of fraud and identity theft by safely disposing of old documents. We thank everyone who made the day a success."

The bank hosted a similar event at its 557 Washington St. branch in Canton as well, where donations benefitted the Canton Food Pantry. Brockton's Bay State Shredding, member of the National Association for Information Destruction (NAID), performed the on-site shredding services at both locations.

On May 28th, Officer Paul Foley was working the evening shift along with his canine partner Charlie. He was dressed in full uniform and operating a low profile police vehicle. Canine Charlie is a trained and certified drug detection police dog. Officer Foley's duties this evening included traffic enforcement, impaired operator detection, overdose reduction, criminal interdiction and canine support to the Drug Control Unit.

At approximately 6:20 p.m., he was stopped in bumper to bumper traffic on Franklin Street south bound near the Prestige Gas Station. He observed a red moped speed by him on the wrong side of the road (traveling south bound in the north bound lane). Officer Foley activated his emergency lights and siren and began to clear the traffic in front of him so he could pull over the moped. As he did this, he observed the moped drive through the red light at Water Street on the wrong side of the road. This caused at least one car to stop short in the intersection, nearly causing a crash. Officer Foley concluded the moped's reckless operation was putting the lives and safety of the public at risk.

The moped then continued south bound on Franklin Street and Officer Foley estimated its speed to be at least 30 MPH. As he closed the distance between he and the moped in the area of the Dunkin Donuts, he observed the operator look back over his shoulder at him and then accelerate. At that moment, Officer Foley concluded the operator was fully aware that a police officer was signaling him to pull over, but he was knowingly failing to do so.

Per department policy, Officer Foley immediately de-activated his emergency lights and siren and slowed his speed. He observed, from a distance, as the moped ran the red light at Independence Avenue and continued south bound onto Independence Avenue. The moped then took a quick left onto Goddard Street where it came to a stop near the top of the hill.

Officer Foley approached the moped (no lights or sirens activated) and pulled up alongside it right in front of 91 Goddard St. The male operator appeared startled and began acting erratically. Officer Foley ordered him off the moped and advised him he was under arrest. The operator refused to his commands and started screaming at Officer Foley. The officer attempted to grab the male's right arm but he pulled away and got off the moped without placing its kickstand down.

Officer Foley grabbed the moped so it wouldn't fall on him and guided it down to the ground onto its right side. He then turned his attention back to the operator and ordered him to get down on the ground. Officer Foley, who was alone, had no idea why the operator had attempted to evade him or if he was armed with any weapons. The male continued to actively resist arrest and Officer Foley attempted to grab his arm but the operator pulled away. Officer Foley was able to push the male up against an uninvolved parked car in an effort to get his hands behind his back.

At that moment, off-duty State Trooper William Bulger, who happened to be driving by and noticed Officer Foley struggling with the male, assisted Officer Foley in getting the operator into handcuffs. The operator then accused Officer Foley of "attacking and assaulting" him for no reason. Officer Foley attempted to explain everything he had observed and why the male was arrested, but his efforts were futile as the male just continued to talk/yell over Officer Foley.

Officer Foley suspected the operator was under the influence of a stimulant but could not safely perform road side assessments due to his level of non-compliance. He confirmed the male's identity via his RMV photo and learned that the operator's license was revoked due to his status as a Habitual Traffic Offender. The male also had an outstanding warrant for his arrest.

During an inventory of the moped, Officer Foley located six black iPhones in the under seat compartment. These were in addition to the seventh iPhone that was in the possession of the operator. Six of the seven phones were functioning and the male would later tell Sgt. Allison that the phones belonged to his "friends." This is an implausible explanation for having seven phones (six functioning) in his possession. Officer Foley suspects these phones may be stolen so he seized them and placed them into evidence until the operator can produce proof of owner ship. If he is unable to, detectives assigned to the Bureau of Criminal Investigations will attempt to determine their rightful owners.

The 25-year-old male from Quincy was arrested transported to the Quincy Police Station where he was booked for resisting arrest, operating to endanger, speeding and other motor vehicle charges.

AARP Mass. Monthly Fraud Watch Update For June

By CINDY CAMPBELL
Communications Director
AARP Massachusetts

Did you know that someone's identity gets stolen every two seconds?

The AARP Fraud Watch Network provides you with tips and resources to help you spot and avoid identity theft and fraud so you can protect yourself and your family. Our watchdog alerts will keep you up to date on con artists' latest tricks. It's free of charge for everyone: AARP members, non-members, and people of all ages.

The AARP Fraud Watch Network is:

- An Educator: Get real-time alerts about the latest scams, tips on how to spot them, and the inside scoop on how con artists think so you can outsmart them before they strike.

- A Watchdog: Our nationwide scam tracking map gives you access to a network of people who've spotted scams and the opportunity to pass along your own experiences, so together we can beat con artists at their own game.

- A Resource: Get connected to a real live person trained in how to avoid fraud and advise you if you or a loved one has been scammed by calling our fraud hotline or attending a forum in your community.

- Free for Everyone: Anyone, of any age, can access our resources at no cost.

SCAM ALERT #1:

CELEBRITY IMPOSTER SCAMS

These days, celebrities share career news, personal views, even travel videos on social media and interact with fans in comment threads. But if you get a direct message out of the blue from a favorite musician, actor or athlete, don't get starry-eyed, get skeptical — it's almost certainly a scam. It's also always a scam when they ask for money for charity or say that you've won a large cash prize but need to pay an entry or processing fee.

Sadly, the AARP Fraud Watch Network Helpline hears about these scams all the time — someone pretending to be Toby Keith or Beyoncé asking for money to help their favorite charity or offering special access for a price.

Remember, never share your personal information or send money via wire transfer, gift card or prepaid debit card to someone you don't know and have only communicated with online, no matter how supposedly famous they are. Check that the social media account of your favorite celebrity is verified (look for the checkmark in a blue circle next to their name on Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter).

SCAM ALERT #2:

DISASTER REPAIR SCAMS

Following extreme weather events, dubious contractors and outright scammers descend on affected communities, offering quick, cheap fixes. While some reputable contractors occasionally solicit door-to-door, many are scams.

After storms, shady contractors and outright scammers canvas neighborhoods in search of "work" that they may or may not even attempt to do. Many will specifically target older homeowners who they perceive as more trusting, more likely to have savings, and — they think — may be experiencing cognitive decline.

It's safest to only trust contractors that you proactively reach out to. Also, regardless of who you are talking to, get written estimates and compare bids from multiple contractors before starting any work. Finally, pay no more than a third of the total cost prior to the work beginning — and then only when materials arrive.

SCAM ALERT #3: WORLD ELDER

ABUSE AWARENESS DAY

When we think about scammers, we often think of "stranger danger" stemming from overseas criminal enterprises bombarding our phones and emails with fraudulent offers. The sad reality for older adults is that the majority of financial abuse they suffer is perpetrated by someone they know.

June 15 is World Elder Abuse Awareness Day and it's the perfect time to remember that seniors are vulnerable to financial abuse by loved ones as well as strangers. Some warning signs to look out for include: a caregiver or family member who suddenly asks for access to your loved one's accounts or possessions, changes in their financial practices such as new credit cards or unopened bank statements.

O'Donnell: Real Estate Sales, Lending Activity Up In Norfolk County

While the weather in May was starting to get slightly warmer, so too was the Norfolk County real estate market, according to Register of Deeds William O'Donnell.

O'Donnell noted that a noticeable uptick in both real estate sales and lending transactions happened last month.

"Specifically, during the month of May, Norfolk County real estate sales, both residential and commercial, totaled 1,767, a healthy 48% increase year over year from 2020 to 2021," O'Donnell said. "The Norfolk County real estate market continues to be strong. There were 16,367 documents recorded at the Norfolk County Registry of Deeds in May which is a 30% increase over last year's May document volume. Average sale price, again including both residential and commercial sales, increased 2% over 2020 to $1,005,765.93. Low inventory of properties for sale are keeping prices for real estate up. Low interest rates are helping buyers afford the home prices of these properties. It is pleasing to see that the real estate market has been solid and steady."

In addition to real estate sales, the Norfolk County lending market has been very busy in May. There were 3,832 mortgages recorded during the month which is an 8% increase over 2020. Total amount of money borrowed for mortgages county wide was almost 2 billion, a 41% increase compared to May 2020.

"While some of the mortgages are due to purchases and sales of real estate, there are a large number of individuals and families taking advantage off historically low interest rates by refinancing existing mortgages," O'Donnell said. "Individuals have different motivations to refinance. Some refinance to reduce their monthly payments, others to take some years off their debt while still others are using the money to pay for home improvements and other capital expenditures."

O'Donnell also said: "There has been a strong demand for housing, single family housing particular, coupled with a limited supply of available housing stock and historically low interest rates which could be motivating buyers to do what is necessary to secure housing. Lending activity was up. The growth in numbers seen in 2020 continues into 2021."

A moratorium on foreclosures in place during the pandemic in 2020 was lifted on October 17, 2020. This moratorium was in place due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Norfolk County Registry of Deeds has been closely watching the foreclosure market.

"During May of 2021 there were 6 foreclosure deeds recorded as a result of foreclosure processes taking place in Norfolk County. Additionally, there were 14 Notices to Foreclosure Mortgages, the first step in the foreclosure process, recorded here in Norfolk County," O'Donnell said. "A foreclosure recording is very impactful on those being foreclosed on. May of 2020 there were no Notices to Foreclosure Mortgages and 7 foreclosure Deeds. Though it is great to see that the Foreclosure deed numbers have decreased, it is troubling to see the Notices of Foreclosure have increases so much. We will continue to monitor these numbers."

Additionally, for the past several years, the Norfolk County Registry of Deeds has partnered with Quincy Community Action Programs, 617-479-8181 x376, and NeighborWorks Housing Solutions, 508-587-0950 to help anyone facing challenges paying their mortgage. Another option for homeowners is to contact the Massachusetts Attorney General's Consumer

Advocacy and Response Division (CARD) at 617-727-8400.

"If you are having difficulty paying your monthly mortgage, please consider contacting one of these non-profit agencies for help and guidance," O'Donnell said.

Homestead recordings by owners of homes and condominiums continue to increase this year at the Norfolk County Registry of Deeds in May. There was a 47% increase in homestead recordings in May 2021 compared to May 2020.

"A Homestead," noted O'Donnell, "provides limited protection against the forced sale of an individual's primary residence to satisfy unsecured debt up to $500,000. It is great to see folks protecting the biggest asset most of us have, our homes. I would urge anyone who has not availed themselves of this important consumer protection tool to consider doing so. Please visit the Registry website at www.norfolkdeeds.org to get more information on homestead protection."

In conclusion, O'Donnell said:

"Many small businesses and specific sectors of our economy, such as restaurant and hospitality, have been negatively impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic. One sector that continued to thrive during the pandemic is the real estate market, particularly the residential market. There have been many factors that have kept the Norfolk County real estate market viable.

"Motivated buyers and sellers, low interest rates, and the Norfolk County Registry of Deeds remaining open for the recording of land documents. While the Registry of Deeds building in Dedham remains closed to the general public, we at the Registry remain open operationally to serve our customers, the residents of Norfolk County and real estate professionals alike. The Norfolk County Registry of Deeds greatly appreciates the patience and understanding shown during this trying period of time.

"As society begins to reopen, restrictions are lifted and emergency COVID-19 orders expire the Norfolk County Registry of Deeds is open to the public for business. The drop-off box located outside the main entrance of the Registry Building for the time being will continue to be available for

BID-Milton Offering $15,000 In Community Health Grants

As part of its longstanding commitment to the community it serves, Beth Israel Deaconess Hospital-Milton (BID Milton) announces its plans to provide $15,000 in community health grants to local non-profit organizations.

BID Milton encourages local service organizations, schools, boards of health, coalitions and community groups and other organizations that provide services in Milton, Quincy and Randolph to submit grant applications by Friday, July 9.

The grants, which would be paid in $5,000 installments per year over three years, are part of the BID Milton's Community Benefits Program and are intended to fund evidence-based or evidence-informed programs that address one of the following community health priorities:

• Chronic Disease Management and Prevention

– Examples of programs that would be considered for funding include efforts to increase the number of adults screened for high blood pressure, blood sugar or other conditions related to chronic diseases; increase the number of adults screened for cancer; reduce the impact of chronic diseases; implement new chronic disease prevention programs; or provide timely access to treatment and/or seamless coordination of follow-up services.

• Social Determinants of Health

– Examples of programs that would be considered for funding include efforts to increase the number of adults and children with access to healthy food; provide nutrition education and food access to under-resourced communities; increase housing stability and decrease the number of people who struggle with financial insecurity/rent insecurity.

• Healthy Aging

– Examples of programs that would be considered for funding include: efforts to increase access to social experiences for those who are isolated and lack family/caregiver and other social supports; implement evidence-based programs to promote aging in place and reduce falls.

• Behavioral Health (Substance Abuse & Mental Health)

– Examples of programs that would be considered for funding include: efforts to increase access to screening, education, referral, and patient engagement services for those identified with or at-risk of mental health and substance use issues in clinical and nonclinical settings; and reduce elder health isolation and depression.

Applicants may also submit programs that are not cited specifically as examples above as long as they address one of the four priority areas (Chronic Disease Management and Prevention, Social Determinants of Health, Healthy Aging and Behavioral Health). All programs implemented should be evidence-based or evidence-informed.

In addition, programs should target groups that have been economically/socially marginalized or under-resourced or experiencing barriers to services due to language or other significant socio-economic factors.

For more information and to download a grant application, please visit: <https://www.bidmilton.org/events-and-education/community-health-grants/>.

Applications are due Friday, July 9 at 5 p.m.

Appalled At Mayor's Proposal For Spending City's Pandemic Funds

Here we go again

I am appalled at the recent report in the Sun of the Mayor's proposed scheme for spending Quincy's pandemic relief funds.

I can think of a number of worthwhile uses for this money that are actually related to the negative impact of COVID in our city, such as home visit vaccinations for the elderly, mass vaccinations at homeless shelters, foreclosure relief for struggling members of our community who suffered job losses, tax abatements for impacted businesses, or debt relief for students who are underwater on school loans. But none of these needs seem to be as important to the administration as the Mayor's desire to build a new City Hall.

The City Council was correct to question the financial feasibility of the bond proposal that the Mayor floated in May and this latest scheme is nothing less than an end run around their fiscal oversight as well as a gross misuse of the tax payer money appropriated for pandemic relief.

If only this administration worked as half as hard at keeping a hospital in Quincy as they do in finding any way possible to fulfill the Mayor's long-held dream of a shiny new office.

and a financial agent who isn't following your loved one's wishes.

Most importantly, if you suspect any sort of financial, physical or sexual abuse, report it to local law enforcement right away.

SCAM ALERT #4: WEIGHT LOSS SCAMS

Looking to slim down for summer? If so, you are not alone. More than 100 million Americans are watching their diet, spending more than $70 billion a year to lose weight. It is not surprising that bogus diet products and programs ranked first among health care scams reported to the Federal Trade Commission last year.

While there are legitimate diet and weight loss programs out there, many don't work and are just out for your money. Engage your inner skeptic – does it sound too good to be true to lose weight while eating as much as you want? Second, just because a product is touted as “natural” or “herbal,” doesn't mean it's “safe” or “wholesome,” and some herbal ingredients are toxic in certain doses.

SCAM ALERT 5: SOCIAL MEDIA ROMANCE SCAMS

Lastly, a lot of subscription programs encourage you to sign up for a free trial but when you read the tiny print, they automatically opt you into getting charged for regular orders or additional products. Be careful – it can be very hard to untangle your “opt in” – so read everything before you make a move.

Dating scams aren't limited to dating sites and apps. Many occur on popular social media platforms, like Facebook and Instagram, and on game platforms, like Words with Friends. The Federal Trade Commission reported a four fold increase in romance scams between 2019 and 2020. The hardest-hit victims? People age 70 and over, with a median loss of $9,475.

The typical romance scam starts online with light conversation and then a request to move off the platform to a private channel like email or a text app. Time goes by and the scammer eventually convinces the target that the relationship is real and that they will be together one day. Then comes the emergency request for money—by wire transfer or gift cards typically, but it's not just a one time request. The requests may turn into demands, and when the target comes out from under the scammer's ether and realizes he wasn't ever talking to his forever love, his money is gone, and his heart is broken.

When connecting online, look out for these red flags: an online profile that's almost too good to be true; a request to leave the platform for email or text messaging; something that prevents meeting in person; and an urgent request for money.

Be a fraud fighter! If you can spot a scam, you can stop a scam.

Report scams to local law enforcement. For help from AARP, call 1-877-908-3360 or visit the AARP Fraud Watch Network at www.aarp.org/fraudwatchnetwork.

Fly Your Flag, Watch Parade, Celebrate The U.S.

I found it uplifting to read that Quincy's Annual Flag Day celebration is on again this year with the pandemic and restrictions being lifted. This year will be the 70th annual parade that's almost as old as me. This year we go REAL with a parade carrying flags actually marching in the streets again. Then following this parade, REAL not virtual fireworks, this year down along Wollaston Beach for all to see.

I have always appreciated Quincy never forgetting the importance of our U.S. Flag. There has been much uproar during the pandemic about the importance and symbolism of flags in general.

Today in America we have seen other flags raised like the Pride flag, the Thin Blue Police flag, the Black Lives Matter flag but to be truthful, the American flag stands for everyone no matter your politics and too many of us have seemingly forgotten this.

Recently, at a Memorial Day Observation in the Town of Natick, a veteran showed up carrying his large Confederate flag causing reportedly great turmoil which I think might have been just a bit overblown. The Confederate flag is not my flag nor represents my values and aspirations. It was a flag of the past during the Civil War flown by many states during that conflict. Some say it was the flag of racism, hatred and slavery and they would be correct. However, today that flag is meaningless and should be treated as part of our past and not present or future.

That flag flew from 1861-1865, a short moment in our U.S. history. Today, at best it still represents to some the Southern Tradition. However, if we take a deeper look at our U.S. flag it flew for some 75 years as a flag that tolerated slavery in many areas of this country. After 1863, it no longer did. However, though for the next near 100 years, it still flew for many in states that practiced racial segregation.

The point being made, our American flag always stands as a symbol of who we are and what we believe in as our values and ideas. Our flag that flies today represents who we are today, not who we were yesterday. Just as we as a people have grown and evolved, so too has the symbolism of our national flag. So too, has America.

We don't live in the past, we live today. We believe in today and in an even better future. Our flag is just a piece of cloth with many colors, it is us, all of us.

Too many out there see us as intrinsically evil, we are not. We are not evil people. We are just people, the good, the bad and the ugly at various times and so has our history. We can not and should not cancel our culture because that is how we get better going forward. History is history, we need to learn from it and not pretend it needs to be cancelled out.

I say, God Bless the U.S.A. and honor those ideals and long live our precious freedoms. We must be active participants in our nation's history and pass what is good going forward. Meanwhile, fly your flag, watch the parade and celebrate with fireworks that there is a United States of America.

NQ Baseball Falls To Marshfield In 1st Round Patriot Cup

By TOM JOYCE

The opponent got off to a hot start and the North Quincy High baseball team couldn't make the comeback.

The Raiders outscored their opponent after the top of the first inning. NQ hosted the Marshfield Rams, who enjoyed some early success and won the first round Patriot Cup game 9-5 at Adams Field in Quincy June 2. With the loss, the Raiders fell to 6-5 on the year.

Marshfield enjoyed plenty of offensive success in the top of the first inning, taking a 5-0 lead that ended up being the difference-maker in the game. It started with a single and a double to score a run. North Quincy then got a flyout followed by an RBI single, a hit batsman and a strikeout. With two outs, however, Marshfield got more runs on the board. An error on a pop fly to right field on the following play also resulted in a run. After that, the next batter grounded out to the third baseman, ending the inning.

North Quincy wouldn't score until the bottom of the fourth inning despite Kyle Pritchard leading off the bottom of the second with a triple to center field.

The Raiders started the inning off with back-to-back walks issued to Alexander Montero and Vinny O'Leary. The next batter struck out, but Kyle DeBoer knocked in a run on a line drive single to left field. Brendan Hines also singled to left field in the next at-bat, making it a 5-2 lead. While the next batter grounded into a fielder's choice, Declan Geary doubled to centerfield with two down to make it a one-run game.

Marshfield went up 9-4 in the top of the sixth after getting hit by a pitch and hitting a double with two outs.

North Quincy's other run in the game came in the bottom of the seventh inning. Lynch started things off with a fly ball double to left field. Then, Liam Hines knocked Lynch in with a groundball single where the ball ended up in centerfield. While that put the team within four runs of tying things up and sending the game to extra innings, that didn't end up happening. The next batter grounded into a double play and the final batter of the game had a popout to right field.

Offensively, North Quincy had 11 hits and drew two walks. Liam Hines was one of two players to have a multi-hit game for the Raiders in the loss. He went three-for-four with an RBI. Additionally, Scotty Ritz went two-for-four and scored a run. Meanwhile, Declan Geary, who got a hit in his only at-bat in the game, knocked in two runs. Plus, Alex Montero reached base twice: on a single and a walk.

On the mound, the Raiders used three pitchers. Starter Zachary Taylor surrendered five runs on six hits and a walk in three innings of work, but only two of those five runs were earned. He also struck out a pair of batters. After Taylor, Declan Geary came in to pitch for two innings. He gave up two runs, both earned, on four hits and a walk. He struck out one batter in his appearance. Additionally, Alex Montero pitched the final two innings of the game. Montero had a team-high four strikeouts in the game and allowed two runs, both earned, on four hits and two walks.

Although Marshfield won the game, the team struck out more times (seven) than North Quincy did (four).

BBB Tips For Parents Searching For Right Summer Camp

Many parents struggled to place their kids in summer camps last year, as many of them were canceled. This year, as businesses and services have reopened, camps are once again looking like a good option for child care and entertainment over the long, hot summer.

The U.S. Centers for Disease Control (CDC) has provided updated guidance for operating youth camps, promoting vaccination and providing information on choosing safer activities. While individual camps will decide which campers to accept, they must all adhere to the standards determined by the state or province. U.S. residents can check their governor's website for required summer camp protocols. The American Camping Association (ACA) accredits camps based on accountability, credibility, and commitment. The YMCA of the USA (Y-USA) offers camps through local YMCAs across the U.S. In Canada, check with the Canadian Camping Association. They encourage campers and camp professionals to look to their local Provincial Camping Association and Provincial Health Authority for the most up-to-date information.

The BBB offers these tips to parents searching for the right summer camp:

- Check for accreditation. Regardless of pandemic-related issues, the safest way to ensure your child's safety is to send them to a trustworthy camp. ACA accredited camps must meet the 32 national summer camp standards, and BBB accreditation requires the organization meet eight standards of trust. Search for camps in the ACA and find camps near you in the BBB Directory to check for accreditation.

- Know required safety standards. Individual states will provide health and safety guidelines for summer camps, following CDC recommendations. These protocols may include measures such as monitoring health of staff and campers, limiting visitor access to campgrounds, adapting meal distribution and providing sanitation products to staff and campers.

- Use references. Ask if they have a list of references or past campers you can contact. You may also want to consider asking trusted friends or family their recommendations for summer camps. Reviews and complaint histories can also be found on the camp's business profile at BBB.org.

- Assess medical resources. Camps should have resources for treating sick and injured campers. Ask about the camp's medical facilities and how those resources can accommodate potential COVID-19 situations, should they arise.

- Review contracts and fees. As always, you should review contracts before you sign them. Find out the total cost and if a deposit is required. See which activities or services require additional fees. You should also check for details regarding refunds. If that information is not outlined in the contract, ask a camp employee.

Find a summer camp near you at BBB.org.

Get The Most Out Of Subscription Services While On A Budget

These days, just about everything can be purchased as a subscription. Video and music streaming services are hugely popular. Meal delivery services provide pre-measured ingredients and easy recipes on a subscription basis. You can sign up for regular shipments of snacks, clothing, personal grooming products, makeup, vitamins, pet toys, wine, and the list goes on.

What should you know about a subscription service before you sign up? BBB offers the following tips to help you get the most out of subscription services while watching your budget.

How to Sign Up for and Cancel Subscription Services

- Do plenty of research. Take time to research a company before you sign up for a subscription or trial. Find the company on social media and review their account. Check BBB.org to see if the company has a good business rating, and look online for consumer reviews. Do an online search of the company including the words "scam" or "complaint" to reveal any red flags you should be aware of.

- Investigate free trials. Free trials can be a good way to get to know a company and try out a product, but make sure you understand how they work. Before you sign up, find out how long the trial period lasts, what exactly you are agreeing to, and how and when to cancel if you decide not to subscribe. If any of this information is confusing or unavailable, take your business elsewhere. The Federal Trade Commission adds this warning about free trials, "Free means free. Be suspicious of companies that offer something free but say you have to pay to get it. You may be dealing with a scammer."

- Understand how auto-renewal works. Auto-renewals are a convenient way to keep your subscription current if you decide you like the service. On the expiration date, the company charges your credit or debit card and the subscription renews for another period. Keep in mind that companies must send you a renewal notice, which is a brief reminder that your subscription is about to renew, ahead of time. Always check your bank and credit card statements to make sure the cost is what you expected. If you notice a price jump, it could be that you were signed up for a promotional period that ended.

- Know how to stop a subscription. There are three ways you can stop automatic payments from your bank account according to consumerfinance.gov: Contact the company to revoke payment authorization, call and write your bank or credit union informing them you've revoked payment authorization, and/or give your bank a "stop payment order." Usually, contacting the company to revoke authorization is sufficient to cancel a subscription, but monitor your bank statements closely anyway. If you still see unwanted charges, you may need to take further action.

- Cancel unwanted subscriptions early. Instead of waiting until the last minute to cancel a subscription or free trial, The New York Times says, "there is generally no drawback to ending payments ahead of time." You can usually cancel early and still enjoy the remaining time left on your subscription for that billing period. Calendar alerts can also help you keep track of when to cancel a subscription, so you don't forget and end up paying for an extra subscription term.

- Periodically review your active subscriptions. If you aren't careful, you could lose track of what subscription services you are paying for. To maintain your financial health, Forbes reminds consumers to figure out how much they are

Brockton Man Dies After Being Pulled From Water At Quincy Beach

By SCOTT JACKSON

A 19-year-old Brockton man died after being pulled from the water at Mound Street Beach in Quincy Point on Sunday afternoon.

Police have identified the victim as Elissandro Silva.

Police Chief Paul Keenan said Silva was playing soccer on the beach and chased the ball after it went into the water and he did not resurface.

First responders from multiple agencies responded to the scene around 2:15 p.m. Sunday as did two civilian divers who happened to be in the area, police said. One of the civilian divers was able to pull Silva from the water.

Silva was rushed to South Shore Hospital in Weymouth, where he was later pronounced dead.

Sunday's incident was the latest in a series of drownings across Massachusetts in recent weeks.

"I think part of it is because people go in sometimes and they don't know how to swim, and they go in because they think it's a shallow area to retrieve a ball or to retrieve something," Keenan said at a press conference Sunday. "Also, at this time of the year, the weather is really warm, but the water is very, very cold."

The water temperature at Mound Street Beach was 56 degrees on Sunday, Keenan said.

On May 27, a 39-year-old Quincy man drowned at Houghton's Pond in Milton while attempting to retrieve a soccer ball that had gone into the water.

On Friday, Worcester police officer Emanuel Familia died while trying to rescue a 14-year-old boy, who also drowned, from a local pond.

On Saturday, a 68-year-old Bridgewater man drowned at a Plymouth pond.

spending on subscriptions. Periodically, review your subscriptions to make sure you're still using them. If you are signed up for multiple subscriptions, a subscription management app can help you to keep track of and manage them.

• Watch out for scams. Scammers may offer you free trials or deals on subscriptions that seem too good to be true, hoping you'll sign up and hand over your credit card number. Don't believe deals that seem outrageously good. In addition, if you receive a "renewal notice" that asks you for your credit card information, think twice before you reply. It's likely the message is a scam. Renewal notices are reminders from a company that already has your payment information. Always contact the company directly to verify suspicious messages.

DA Morrissey Awards $5,000 Grant For Post-Pandemic Mental Health Support

Dist. Atty. Michael Morrissey has given $5,000 grants to support mental health needs in 15 communities across Norfolk County - including Quincy.

"We try to target our community reinvestment dollars where our communities identify the greatest need," Morrissey said. "Coming out of the pandemic year, our partners in the schools and municipal governments have made it very clear that the deepest need is mental health support and services."

Quincy's proposal is unique in the county, Morrissey said.

"The pandemic has exhausted our already overburdened front line emergency responders and behavioral health providers," the Quincy application reads. "With the vaccine, reduction of COVID deaths, and the hope that we will return to some sense of normalcy, the individual who have been on the front lines may now experience the impact of the stress and trauma that they have pushed aside..."

The $5,000 grant will fund educational forums, consultations, and community resources for the city's firefighters, ambulance personnel, and police officers who have served during the pandemic. Bay State Community Services and Modern Assistance Program.

"We offered communities grants for three set programs or the flexibility to propose their own according to their needs - as Quincy chose to do," Morrissey said. "Quincy recognized the need to support those who have seen some of the worst aspects of the pandemic."

Past projects the DA has funded with community reinvestment funds have included school safety grants, training for school personnel on substance abuse, and drug abuse prevention programs.

"This year our communities are consistently worried about the emotional well-being of the population," Morrissey said. "The more we learned, the more we understood how vital investment in mental health support is in this period."

Morrissey awarded grants to every community that applied.

Gun Violence And Its Negative Affect On Younger Generations

Op Ed

Gun violence has had a major effect on my generation's mental health. Events such as Pulse Nightclub, Sandy Hook, and Parkland have lived with me since first grade. Without even knowing it, my peers could show signs of P.T.S.D. A sign of P.T.S.D is intrusive memories according to Mayo Clinic. Intrusive memories can not be controlled, similarly to other traumatic tendencies.

Many kids encounter a gun growing up. 1.7 million children live with unlocked, loaded guns. If schools and homes aren't safe it's unmanageable for kids to focus on studying and learning. Buying a gun in Massachusetts is not difficult, however it is more laborious to buy a gun in Massachusetts than in New Hampshire. According to a Vox article, in New Hampshire buying a gun is easier than getting your drivers license.

Gun violence affected and is affecting people, but for me personally gun violence has effected my family in a terrible way. I just turned nine years old when I found out my uncle was shot and killed. At the time I wasn't incredibly sad because I didn't really understand what had happened. As time went on I grew more and more sorrowful as I thought about how I couldn't remember the times we spent together. The fact that I didn't get to form memories with my uncle, and my Dad couldn't look up to his older brother anymore is devastating. Unfortunately, my story isn't unique.

Restoration Ecologist Jess Cohn Gives Butler's Pond Plant Talk

Jessica Cohn, a Quincy resident, gave a lecture on the native and invasive species around Butler's Pond.

Cohn is a member of Friends of Butler's Pond and a restoration ecologist. As a new resident to Quincy, she wants to share her passion. And so few people know the richness and diversity of plants and animals at the pond.

Did you know there is lots of the native plant, Jewelweed (Impatiens dentatum), at Butler's Pond? Juice from the crushed stem helps alleviate symptoms poison ivy and stinging nettle. And the Indigenous People that lived here in Quincy used it topically as medicine to treat a wide variety of skin conditions. Their flower blooms late in summer and must be cross pollinated by bees and hummingbirds.

Arrow wood (Viburnum dentatum) is another native plant seen at Butler's Pond. Indigenous People used the straight stems of Arrow wood for arrow shafts, hence the common name.

Garlic mustard (Alliaria petiolata) is an invasive plant seen at Butler's Pond. It is an edible plant that is used in salads and to make a pesto-like sauce. It has a sharp garlic flavor. It was imported in the 19th century. A single plant creates thousands of seeds, and its roots produce a toxin that kills soil fungi that many other plants depend on for growth. So, there is an ongoing project at Butler's Pond to remove the garlic mustard before it proliferates and displaces native plants.

The dredging and restoration of Butler's Pond has been approved for $1.4 million in funding. City Councilors and Mayor Koch have been very supportive of this project. The project will be out for bidding soon. When the Butler's Pond restoration is in progress, Julianne Sullivan, Quincy's Environmental Scientist, will give a talk.

DOVE Urges Community To Join In Exploring Strategies To Enhance Safety For All

One June 4, 2021, National Gun Violence Awareness Day, several officers and a K9 responded to a domestic violence 911 call in Braintree. Two officers were injured by gunshot wounds; K9 Kitt and the suspect were killed. Our hearts and thoughts are with the Braintree Police Department, and the officers and their families, as well as the survivor.

Statistics indicate that over half of intimate partner homicides are committed with guns. A female victim is five times more likely to be murdered when her abuser has access to a gun. Firearms use is associated with increased incidence of multiple homicide victimization, especially in domestic violence situations (Gold, 2020).

We know all too well that private violence predicts public violence, and that the experiences of victims of domestic violence and their children are strong indicators of risks. While Massachusetts has strong gun safety laws, there is more work to be done to reduce the availability of guns as well as increasing prevention programs to address root causes of gun violence.

We wish for a speedy and solid recovery for the officers involved in last week's shooting, and urge community members to join with us in exploring stronger community engagement strategies to enhance safety for all – police and civilians alike.

Executive Director, DOVE, Inc.

MA Gasoline Prices Up One Cent

Massachusetts's average gas price is up one cent from last week ($2.92), averaging $2.93 per gallon. Monday's price is 9 cents higher than a month ago ($2.84), and 92 cents higher than June 7, 2020 ($2.01). Massachusetts's average gas price is 12 cents lower than the national average.

"Since April, we've seen a steady rise in demand for gasoline with more people and taking to the roads for vacation. This increasing demand and decreasing supply – combined with higher crude oil prices – mean pump prices are likely to fluctuate throughout June," said Mary Maguire, AAA Northeast Director of Public and Government Affairs. "We could see some price decreases early in the month as the school year ends, and increases mid-month as Long time parent and student advocate Liberty Schaaf announces her candidacy for school committee in the fall city election.

A mother of six, Schaaf first became involved in the Quincy Public Schools as a member of the Atherton Hough PTO 15 years ago when her first child enrolled at the school. Since then, she served in almost every role on the PTO, including president, and also as a member of the Central middle School PTO. In her wide ranging roles, she has served on hiring committees for new principals and has built strong working relationships with teachers, administrators and support staff across the school system. She currently has children at all levels of the QPS system – elementary, middle school and high school.

"I believe deeply in the Quincy Public Schools; I believe it is a great system, and I feel a responsibility to do my part to give back and work collaboratively to make it the best I possibly can be," Schaaf said. "I think I have the experience, the passion, and the commitment to our young people to make a contribution as a member of the school committee."

Her experience as a parent and advocate has run the gamut of educational needs, from children in the QPS accelerated learning program to others requiring individual education plans; from those involved with athletic programs and others less outgoing.

"Every child is different and every child's needs are different," Schaaf said. "I've worked hard to ensure that my children have had the best experience possible and received the services they need," she said.

"I want to bring that passion to the school committee to make sure the resources we already have in place are more easily accessible to children who need them. I believe in supporting and educating every child as an individual."

Schaaf, a lifelong Quincy resident, holds degrees in early childhood education and business management.

She currently lives in Germantown with her husband and family. She said she believes strongly in teaching the value of honesty, integrity and treating everyone with respect and kindness-values that are at the heart of strong families and a strong community.

"Quincy has a wonderfully unique and diverse population, and I believe that all family dynamics -same-sex parents, single parents, foster parents, grandparents in guardians should all have a voice in their school committee," she said.

The Committee to Elect Liberty Schaaf will host a campaign kick off fundraiser Thursday, June 10 at 5 p.m. at the Quincy Yacht Club, 1310 Sea St., Quincy. "No donation too great or too small up to $1,000."

BBB: Travel Restrictions Continue In Many Areas

Travel restrictions continue in many areas, and states, provinces and countries have different policies on masks and vaccination requirements. The following tips from the Better Business Bureau help answer some questions when making travel plans:

• REAL ID deadlines: The deadline for REAL ID in the United States was extended, so you still have some time before being required to have a TSA compliant form of ID. If you haven't updated your driver's license yet, stay tuned on what happens with this deadline.

• Check with airlines and cruise operators about previously planned trips. Travel to and from some destinations continues to be restricted in and out of the U.S. as well as other destinations.

• Check the the U.S. Travel Association and the U.S. Department of State for additional information. For traveling to or from Canada, check the Canadian travel restrictions page and the travel advisory page. But even if your destination isn't on a list, carefully consider your options. Then, reach out to the travel agency or the company with whom you've made the arrangements.

• Consider your health risk. For updated information, check the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. State health departments or municipal government officials may have orders in place requiring people to wear facemasks or other restrictions. Research these locations before making any travel plans.

• Carefully research cancellation policies before making reservations. Understand what kind of cancellation policy is available for the tickets you would like to purchase for a trip at a later time. Cruise companies, airline, hotel, AirBNB and other travel related cancellation policies are rapidly changing because of the pandemic. Many of them are adhering to their current policy while others may make an exception but only for a limited time. Before making a reservation, even if it's within the U.S. understand whether or not you can cancel and get your money back if the pandemic continues long-term.

• Consider buying travel insurance, but read the small print. Travel insurance is a great way to receive a full refund if you need to cancel a trip, but not all policies have the same coverage. It is critical

Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A heads-up alert to all free-spirited Ewes and Rams: Be wary of a deal that could result in compromising your independence. Check every detail before making a commitment.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) New facts emerge that help put an irksome workplace situation in perspective. Meanwhile, pay more attention to a family member who needs your wisdom and strength.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A slight setback in plans is nothing to worry about. Use this delay to deal with a number of matters you might have ignored for too long. Expect news from someone in your past.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You're entering a period of stability. Use it to straighten out any outstanding problems related to a very personal situation. Also, pay closer attention to financial matters. LEO (July 23 to August 22) As much as you love being a social Lion, you might well benefit from staying out of the spotlight for a while. You need time to reflect on some upcoming decisions.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A difficult family situation improves, thanks to your timely intervention. You can now start to focus more of your attention on preparing for a possible career change.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) An on-the-job change works to your benefit by offering new opportunities. It's up to you to check them out. Meanwhile, a stalled romantic situation starts up again.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) That flare-up of Scorpion temperament cools down, leaving you more receptive to suggestions about changes that might need to be made in your personal life.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) An unusual period of indecisiveness is a mite frustrating. But things soon clear up, allowing the sage Sagittarian to make those wise pronouncements again.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You might feel that you know best, but it's not a good idea at this time to try to force your opinions on others. Best advice: Inspire change by example, not by intimidation.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Some setbacks could affect your plans to fortify your financial situation. But things start moving again by early next week. Meanwhile, enjoy your resurgent social life.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Show that often-hidden steely spine of yours as you once again stand up to an emotional bully. You've got the strength to do it, especially as friends rally to your side.

BORN THIS WEEK: Your ruling planet, Mercury, endows you with a gift for writing. Have you considered penning the world's greatest novel?

HOLLYWOOD

by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD -- Superstar stand-up comic Sebastian Maniscalco, who made his film debut in the Oscar-winning picture "The Green Book" (as Johnny Venere) and then played "Crazy Joe" Gallo opposite Robert De Niro, Al Pacino and Joe Pesci in Martin Scorsese's "The Irishman," will now STAR opposite De Niro in "About My Father." The script, written by Maniscalco and based on his relationship with his real father, starts shooting later this year. When Maniscalco asked his father who should play him, his answer was, "De Niro, who else?!" De Niro, picky about what he acts in, obviously loved the script because he immediately said "Yes."

Chris Rock, a huge fan of the "Saw" franchise, approached Lionsgate with his ideas on how to extend the franchise from "Jigsaw" ("Saw 8") to a ninth film, which opened May 14 to favorable reviews. Rock had a dramatic role in 2020 in 10 episodes of " Fargo" (as Loy Cannon), and he enjoyed it so much that he wrote the starring role (with touches of comedy) in "Spiral: From the Book of Saw" for himself.

With Rock on board, Lionsgate was able to sign Samuel L. Jackson and Max Minghella to join him. It started shooting July 2019 and wrapped that August. Originally scheduled for release in October 2020, it was rushed to release May 2020, then delayed due to the pandemic. A sequel, "Saw X," is already in the works, along with a possible TV series.

Sequels, sequels, sequels! "Knives Out 2" will again star Daniel Craig, as well as Edward Norton and Dave Bautista, when it begins shooting in Greece. Netflix has allotted $400 million, aiming at a December 2022 release for "KO2," followed by "Knives Out 3," being shot back-to-back. And "Venom," which grossed $855 million in 2018, has the sequel "Venom 2, Let There Be Carnage" already shooting with Tom Hardy, Michelle Williams and Reid Scott returning, adding Woody Harrelson and J.K. Simmons to the mix.

Two-time Academy Award-winner Hilary Swank (best supporting actress for "Boys Don't Cry" in 1999, and best actress for "Million Dollar Baby" in 2004) seemed to disappear during the pandemic, but she was in Australia in June 2019 making the sci-fi thriller "I Am Mother," with Rose Byrne; the horror/thriller "The Hunt," with Betty Gilpin, Amy Madigan and Emma Roberts (in New Orleans); as well as "Fatale," with Michael Ealy and Mike Colter (shot in L.A.). She also starred in the Netflix series "Away."

But she'll return in a blaze of glory playing racing pioneer Janet Guthrie, the first woman to compete in both the Indianapolis 500 and the Daytona 500, in "Speed Girl." If that doesn't get her career racing again, nothing will!

KOVELS' Antiques & Collecting

By Terry and Kim Kovel

Flag-Topped Table --- "Unique" is a word that is often misused by collectors. It means one of a kind. There can never be a unique mass-produced chair but there can be a rare one. More than 20 years ago, the Kovels' newspaper column wrote about a table with a top that was made to look like an American flag. A similar table is being sold by Woody Auction. The Kovel table had 23 stars on the flag. Maine was the 23rd state, added in 1820. The table being sold at Woody has 35 stars, suggesting it was made to honor the statehood of West Virginia in 1863.

The 35-star table was marked by the maker: "Made & Designed by F. Wedin, Roxbury." Recent research by the auction gallery suggests he was a piano maker from Massachusetts. Both tables were made of solid wood with inlaid stars and stripes. The wavy edges of the 35-star table make it look windblown. It has a drawer with carvings of dueling pistols, side supports like anchors, cross braces like rifles, legs like cannons and cannonball feet. It is estimated at $20,000 to $40,000. It is truly unique.

Q: I picked up what I think is a Currier & Ives print from a thrift store. I'm just trying to see if the name of the print is a legitimate Currier & Ives print. It's titled "A Mountain Home." If the title matches a real print made by Currier & Ives, I'd like to know if it's a reproduction. I bought it for $6, so even if it is a reproduction, I wouldn't care since I like the print.

A: Currier & Ives was in business in New York City from 1857 to 1907 and is famous for its American lithograph prints. Reproductions and fakes have been made. "A Mountain Home" is not one of the prints listed in books that catalog the original Currier & Ives prints. It's often offered for sale online, identified as a Currier & Ives print from 1890, but one seller probably got it right when he said it is "after Currier & Ives," which means it was done in the style of the famous printmakers.

Q: I just finished watching the first installment of "True Detective" with Woody Harrelson and Matthew McConaughey. I've heard that the subsequent seasons with a different cast and mystery are not as good, so I might just skip those. Will there be a fourth season, and is there any chance that Harrelson and McConaughey will return for it? -- E.O.

A: When the anthology series "True Detective" premiered on HBO in 2014, I remember being surprised that two big movie stars were doing a TV series together. Nowadays, television and streaming services have so many quality projects, it's easy to see why stars cross over often without a second thought.

The third installment of "True Detective" did seem to win back fans and critics alike with lead actor Mahershala Ali taking home an Emmy. According to Deadline.com, a fourth season is in the works, with Casey Bloys, chief content officer at HBO/HBO Max, "working with a couple of writers to find the right tone and take."

McConaughey seems to have shifted away from acting, at least for now. He taught a film production class at the University of Texas and recently expressed interest in running for governor of the Lone Star state. Harrelson will play Timothy Leary in an upcoming limited series "The Most Dangerous Man in America," but it's not known yet when or where that show will air.

Q: Is Jake Tapper the novelist the same man who is on CNN? -- R.E.

A: Yes, the multitasking Tapper hosts a weekday news program along with other onscreen duties at CNN. He has published both nonfiction and novels, and also is a political cartoonist. His latest book, "The Devil May Dance," is set during the Rat Pack world of Hollywood in the early 1960s. Tapper, 52, has said in interviews he's fascinated with that era. Right now he seems to be at ease juggling his many hats. Let's hope it continues.

Q: I saw a preview a while back for another musical by the man who created "Hamilton." I thought it was going to be in movie theaters, but then the pandemic hit. Did they ever finish it? -- S.T.

A: You're thinking of "In the Heights," which Lin-Manuel Miranda created for the stage long before "Hamilton" became a Broadway sensation. The film adaptation was due out a year ago, but COVID-19 put a halt to that. Fortunately, it'll be in theaters and available to stream on HBO Max beginning June 18.

"In the Heights" the film is directed by Jon M. Chu ("Crazy Rich Asians") and stars Anthony Ramos and Leslie Grace. It's set in the largely Dominican, Washington Heights neighborhood of Manhattan. Ramos reprises his lead role of Usnavi, a bodega owner who dreams of winning the lottery and the heart of a young woman who works at a beauty salon. Jimmy Smits ("NYPD Blue"), Stephanie Beatriz ("Brooklyn Nine-Nine") and Lin-Manuel Miranda himself round out the talented cast.

Fight Dander Allergies on Multiple Fronts

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I love my two fluffy cats, "Jake" and "Manny," even though I am allergic to the dander in their fur. Antihistamines help, but not completely. Would an air purifier help keep the air clear? -- Jemma G. in Kansas City, Missouri

DEAR JEMMA: An allergy to pet dander can be tough to keep under control -- so much so that some pet owners give up their pets. I'm so glad you've kept your family together. Pet dander is generally underneath a dog or cat's coat, near the skin. They shed fluffy bits of fur almost constantly, and dander is carried off with that fluff. Because dander can be tiny -- 75 microns or smaller, which isn't visible to the naked eye -- it's hard to isolate and get rid of.

An air purifier may help, but only if it's the right one to trap dander. Get an air purifier with a HEPA filter -- one that can be changed easily. HEPA (high efficiency particulate air) filters trap particles as small as 0.5 microns. Avoid "ionizing" air purifiers as these don't trap as many dander particles; plus they can be expensive. The size depends on how much of your home you'd like the air purifier to work in; for example, desktop-sized units have a range of less than 200 square feet, which makes them ideal for desks or next to your bed. No single strategy will reduce dander or other allergens. Tackle the issue from multiple angles. Dusting and vacuuming the house frequently can reduce dander, and brushing your cats' hair daily will reduce extra shedding. If these activities trigger allergies, consider wearing a filter mask and goggles to hopefully reduce the reaction.

Mahoney Critical Of Munroe Building Purchase

By SCOTT JACKSON

Councillor Anne Mahoney on Monday said she was disappointed with Mayor Thomas Koch's plan to use federal pandemic relief funds to acquire the Munroe Building in Quincy Center and a nearby parking lot.

Mahoney also said the city might not be able to use money earmarked for the college for property acquisitions.

Koch on May 27 announced he would use $15 million in funds the city and Quincy College, which is municipally owned, will receive from the American Rescue Plan to purchase the Munroe Building at 1227 Hancock St. and the parking lot at 1177 Hancock St. The mayor said the city should acquire those two parcels while they are available and was optimistic the land could be used to provide a new home for the school in the future.

During Monday's City Council meeting, Mahoney said she has heard from a number of residents – who have called her, emailed or stopped her in public – that are opposed to Koch's plan to purchase those two properties with the pandemic relief funds.

"People are upset, and they don't want the Munroe Building purchased for Quincy College. They are even more outraged at the thought that pandemic relief funds are being used to take another building of the tax rolls of the city of Quincy," Mahoney said.

"I must agree with the outcry. I am personally disappointed by the mayor's choice to use federal pandemic money to purchase the Munroe Building. I do not believe the American [Rescue] Plan is intended for use for purchasing buildings to take them off tax rolls."

Koch had previously sought council approval to borrow money to buy the Munroe Building and the parking lot, Mahoney noted, but withdrew the request before a possible vote on the matter on May 17.

"Listening to the overwhelming voice of the Quincy constituents, I believe a majority of the City Council was really ready to vote and reject the appropriation that was put before us," Mahoney said. "Yet, this administration just did not want to hear the word 'no' and they removed it from our ability to vote and now he is using pandemic money for the mayor's vanity project."

Mahoney also said that colleges and universities cannot use money they receive from the American Rescue Plan's Higher Education Emergency Relief Fund for construction or purchase of real property. She encouraged residents to raise their concerns with the U.S. Department of Education's inspector general.

"I think this is a misuse of pandemic relief funds," Mahoney said.

"This no longer resides in the City Council, but I still feel it strong that I needed to speak about it. For the folks at home, for the people who stopped me, do not let the ARP funds for schools and students end up in the wrong hands. You asked what you needed to do – you can file a complaint online with the inspector general or call their hotline at 1-800-MIS-USED."

Chris Walker, Koch's chief of staff, on Tuesday said the mayor's plan to use the federal money for the land acquisitions had been vetted by outside auditors.

"The use of ARP funding for this purpose was fully vetted by the City's independent auditors, so any claim to the contrary is at best mistaken and at worst purposely misleading to score cheap points," Walker said in a statement.

"Site control for this parcel is critical to the future of the entire corridor so the City can determine its own destiny – as we have done multiple times in multiple areas when it comes to economic development in the downtown. If Mayor Koch listened to chronic naysayers who would oppose a 75-degree sunny day if he proposed it, the City would look a lot different today and not in a good way."

The city received $46.3 million in aid from the American Rescue Plan. Quincy College will receive $10.7 million from the ARP, half of which must be set aside for the benefit of the school's students.

Incumbents Among 20 Residents Who Have Pulled Nomination Papers

By SCOTT JACKSON

Twenty residents have taken out nomination papers to run for office in this fall's municipal election, including each of the incumbents up for reelection this year.

Preliminary elections would be required in the race for Ward 2 seat on the City Council and the School Committee if all candidates who have taken out nomination papers qualify for the ballot.

Three candidates have pulled papers in the race for the Ward 2 seat on the council: incumbent Anthony Andronico of Endicott Street as well as challengers Steven Perdios of Ruggles Street and Jorgette Theophilis of Norman Road. Andronico was appointed to the seat in January following the resignation of longtime councillor Brad Croall. Croall was first elected in 2011, when he defeated Perdios by 56 votes.

Another race is possible for the three at large spots on the council. All three incumbent at-large councillors – Noel DiBona of Chickatabot Road, Nina Liang of Grand View Avenue, and Anne Mahoney of Ferriter Street – have pulled papers to seek reelection.

William Burke of Rice Road and John Rododophele of Grenwood Road have also taken out papers to seek an at-large seat on the council. Both pulled papers to run for councillor at-large in the 2019 municipal election, but neither returned them. Burke ran unsuccessfully for state representative in 2018 and had run for Congress two years prior. Rodophele ran unsuccessfully for the Ward 5 seat in 2017 and ran for School Committee twice before that.

Ward 1 Councillor David McCarthy of Whitney Road, Ward 3 Councillor Ian Cain of Forbes Hill Road, Ward 4

Councillor Brian Palmucci of Cross Street, Ward 5 Councillor Charles Phelan Jr. of Fenno Street and Ward 6 Councillor William Harris of Ashworth Road have taken out nomination papers to run for reelection. No challengers had emerged in those races as of Tuesday morning.

In the race for School Committee, all three incumbents whose seats are being contested this year have taken out nomination papers. They are: Douglas Gutro of Arnold Street, Emily Lebo of Highland Avenue and Courtney Perdios of Ruggles Street.

Joining them in the race are Ellen Patterson O'Donnell of Hatherly Road, John McDonald of Quincy Shore Drive, Liberty Schaaf of Howe Street, and Liz Speakman of Merrymount Road.

Courtney Perdios was appointed to the committee in February, filling the remainder of Andronico's term. O'Donnell, Schaaf and Speakman were also nominated for the seat during the joint convention.

Courtney and Steven

Perdios are married, and this is believed to be the first time a wife and husband have both sought municipal office in the same election in city history.

There is no mayoral election this year. Mayor Thomas Koch was reelected to a four-year term in 2019.

The deadline to return nomination papers to the Board of Registrars is 5 p.m. on July 27 and certified nomination papers, including a statement of candidacy, must be submitted to the city clerk by 5 p.m. on Aug. 10.

The signatures of 50 registered voters are required to run for each office in a municipal election. Residents seeking one of the six ward councillor seats must obtain the signatures from within their ward.

If needed, a preliminary election would be held on Sept. 14. A preliminary election would be required if more than two candidates run for one ward council seat, or if more than six ran for either councillor at-large or the school board.

The final election is slated for Nov. 2.

Travel Restrictions Continue In Many Areas

to read the fine print of any plan you are considering before you buy. Most policies won't cover a cancellation simply because you are now afraid to go. Purchasing a policy that allows you to "cancel for any reason" is the best way to ensure coverage in this rapidly evolving situation.

• Consider hiring a travel agent. If finding travel insurance, contacting airlines and cruise companies, and making last minute travel plans doesn't suit you, consider hiring a travel agent. A reputable agent will be able to do all the legwork for you.

• Think twice before buying a bargain ticket. As the coronavirus restricts travel for many, flight and cruise deals are popping up everywhere. If you want to take advantage of these deals, keep in mind that, realistically, any destination could become compromised or closed indefinitely as the virus continues to spread and you may need to cancel or reschedule your travel plans. This could result in additional fees and make the deal even less of a bargain.

• Watch out for scams. In addition, scammers are never below taking advantage of a crisis, so make sure any deals you consider are legitimate before paying or offering up your personal information.

OBITUARIES

Jorge A. Gonzalez, 68

A funeral Mass for Jorge Ariel Gonzalez, age 68, of Weymouth, formerly of Quincy and Boston, was celebrated Wednesday at Divine Mercy Parish in St. Ann's Church, Quincy.

Mr. Gonzalez died unexpectedly May 31 after suffering a heart attack at the South Shore Hospital in Weymouth.

Born in Ponce, Puerto Rico on March 6, 1953, he was the son of the late Francisco Dominguez Gonzalez and Georgina Morales Gonzalez.

Mr. Gonzalez came to the United States as a teenager with his family and made Boston his home. For years he worked as a truck driver, then a truck foreman and later in life was a laborer for construction projects as well as a landlord in property management.

Mr. Gonzalez was a hard worker and enjoyed the relationships he built throughout the years.

Survived by his devoted wife Julia (Figueroa) Gonzalez, with whom he shared 49 years of marriage. He was the beloved father of Amy DaSilva and her husband Marcelo of Quincy and Jasmine De Puy and her husband Jeff of Canton. He was a loving grandfather to Arabelle and Christian DaSilva, both of Quincy. He was the dear brother of Benito Gonzalez of Florida, Carmelo Gonzalez of Brockton and Zaida Estremera of Wilmington. Ariel was preceded in death by his eight other siblings. He is also survived by many loving nieces and nephews.

Mr. Gonzalez loved cars,

action movies, his tomato plants, road trips, and his family – not necessarily in that order. As a dad he was “Mr. Fix it” whether it was an object or helping you mend a broken heart – he often had the right tools or the right words, to ease the pain. He was a doting “Dadda,” taking extreme pride in his two grandchildren. He was the fun uncle and very supportive to his siblings, nieces and nephews and could always be counted on as a good neighbor and friend.

Over the years Mr. Gonzalez dealt with a number of health challenges from diabetes, to cancer, to partial vision loss but through it all remained determined in not allowing any of that to slow him down.

That strong will and determination and his positive attitude are part of his legacy that will continue through his family.

Mr. Gonzalez will be fondly remembered and missed by all the lives he touched.

Interment at Fairview Cemetery, Hyde Park.

Funeral arrangements were made by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Quincy.

Catherine Connolly, 91

A funeral Mass for Catherine “Kitty” (Connolly) Connolly, age 91, a longtime resident of Quincy, will be celebrated Friday at 10 a.m. in St. John the Baptist Church, Quincy.

Mrs. Connolly died peacefully June 5 at her home at Compass on the Bay in Boston.

She was born in Letterard East, Cashel, County Galway, Ireland. Raised and educated there, she immigrated to the United States in the early 1950s and had lived in Newton and Dorchester before moving to Quincy where she resided for fifty-five years.

Mrs. Connolly was a devoted homemaker. After raising her family, she returned to work in various capacities until her retirement.

She loved to travel, and especially enjoyed cruises to the Panama Canal, Caribbean, Nova Scotia, Bermuda, and Alaska. Mrs. Connolly was an avid reader and also enjoyed bowling and playing Bingo.

Beloved wife for sixty-five years of the late Joseph Connolly. Devoted mother of Barbara Atwater and her husband Randy of Winter Park, Colo., Joseph Connolly of Quincy, Elizabeth Ouellette and her husband Denis of Quincy, Bridget Greenwald and her husband Scott of East Boston, John Connolly of Quincy, Judith Flaherty of Weymouth and her late husband Michael, and Kathy McNeice and her husband Michael of Marshfield.

Loving grandmother of Paul and Jennifer Ouellette, Victoria and Laura Greenwald, and Shawn and Lilli

CATHERINE CONNOLLY

McNeice.

One of eleven siblings, she was the dear sister of Thomas Connolly of Medford, Matthew Connolly of Paignton, Devon, England, Jimmy Connolly of Quincy, Margaret Craven of Lewiston, Maine, and was predeceased by Mary Agustino, Julia O'Donnell, Sean, Patrick, Joseph, and Eddy Connolly.

Daughter of the late Mathias and Barbara (Keaney) Connolly. Stepdaughter of the late Margaret (Keaney) Connolly.

Mrs. Connolly is also survived by many nieces and nephews.

Visiting hours are 4 to 6 p.m. Thursday in the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy.

Interment at Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Memorial donations may be made to the American Stroke Association, 300 5th Ave, Suite 6, Waltham, MA 02451 or by visiting stroke.org.

The Connolly family wishes to convey their heartfelt thanks and love to Ann Murphy, an aide at Brookdale Quincy, who took very good care of Kitty and Joe for the many years they resided there.

Frances C. Leofanti, 87

A funeral service for Frances C. (Ramoska) Leofanti, 87, of Quincy, was held Tuesday in Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Quincy.

Mrs. Leofanti died May 31.

The beloved wife of the late Peter J. Leofanti. Loving mother of Carla L. Orlando and her husband Christopher “Kip” Orlando of Quincy, Carolyn Guerrero and her husband Guadalupe Guerrero of Portland, OR and the late Peter J. Leofanti, Jr. Cherished Nonni to Emiliano and Lilianna Guerrero and Angelo Orlando. Sister of Stanley Ramoska and the late Helen Lauby, Jeannette Sirignano, Eleanore Ramoska and John Ramoska.

Mrs. Leofanti loved spending time with her family, especially with her three grandchildren. She was often described as sweet and kind by all those she met. She was an avid reader and appreciated nature. In her later years, Mrs. Leofanti enjoyed spending time with her caregiver, Angela whom she adored.

Interment at Pine Hill Cemetery, Quincy.

Memorial donations may be made to ALS Association - Mass Chapter, 685 Canton St., #103, Norwood, MA 02062.

Mary G. Forrester, 85

Mary G. (Sullivan) Forrester of Quincy and Naples, FL, died Jan. 23 of complications of the coronavirus, at the age of 85.

Born in Boston of the late William P. and Teresa (Locke) Sullivan, she grew up in Adams Shore and graduated from Quincy High School, Class of 1953, and Quincy Junior College in 1977.

Mary married her husband Arthur in 1956, they settled in Houghs Neck.

Mrs. Forrester worked for the City of Quincy in a number of positions, including executive secretary to the director of Quincy City Hospital, Quincy Police Department and Assessors Office at City Hall.

Upon retirement, Mary and Art split their time between their homes in Houghs Neck and Naples, Florida. Mrs. Forrester was a beloved member of Houghs Neck Garden Club, Naples Red Hats, an integral member of the “Girls Birthday Club” and the Beautification Committee of her condo association.

Mary and Art have enjoyed traveling locally and abroad with sisters and many friends, loved socializing, dancing, and eating out, as well as entertaining in their home, where Mrs. Forrester continued to reign as “The Hostess with the Mostest!” As a young mother, Mrs. Forrester dabbled in synchronized swimming, sewing clothes and decor, and delighted everyone with her millinery talents.

Mrs. Forrester is survived by her loving husband of 64 years, Arthur Forrester, her four children: James Forrester & Marcia, Julie Graham & Stephen, Mark Forrester, all of Quincy, and Gail Cunningham & William of Huntington Beach, CA.

She was the loving grandmother to her precious grandchildren Jillian, Stephen and Mark Graham of Quincy, Marisa and Marlena

MARY G. FORRESTER

Forrester of Quincy, Liam Cunningham of Huntington Beach, and Marcus and Mylles Forrester of Marshfield.

Mrs. Forrester is also survived by her three sisters, Catherine Riley, Teresa Cook, and Carol Schunemann, and her sisters- and brothers-in-law William Schunemann, Helen Berg, Kathy and Thomas McIntyre, and many nieces and nephews. She is predeceased by her brother John Sullivan, and her brothers-in-law James Riley, David Cook, Arthur Berg, Robert Dwyer and sisters-in-law Grace Dwyer and Mary and Dana Sullivan.

A funeral Mass and celebration of life will be held Friday at 10:30 a.m., at the Most Blessed Sacrament Church in Quincy, followed by interment of ashes at Mount Wollaston.

A live stream of the service is available at Holy Trinity's Facebook page facebook.com/holytrinity-quincy and website holytrinityquincy.com.

Due to illness in the family, everyone attending will need to wear a mask.

Memorial donations may be made to the charity of your choice, including your local food bank, since Mrs. Forrester believed feeding local families was important.

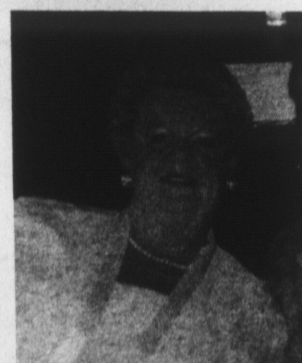

Flowers should be delivered to Dennis Sweeney Funeral Home by Thursday.

Nancy M. Larkin

A funeral Mass for Nancy M. (Healey) Larkin of Quincy, formerly of Savin Hill, was celebrated June 5 in St. Ann's Church, Neponset.

Mrs. Larkin died peacefully May 29.

Beloved wife of the late John J. Larkin. Loving mother of Michael Anthony Larkin, and Kimberly Altovino and her husband Salvatore of Foxboro. Cherished grandmother of Nicholas and Alexandra Larkin. Dear sister of the late Sally Healey, John Healey, Paul Healey, and Jane Healey.

NANCY M. LARKIN

Interment at Cedar Grove Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were made by John J. O'Connor & Son Funeral Home, Dorchester.

Phyllis Mullen, 95

OBITUARIES

Mary M. Callahan, 84

Visiting hours for Mary M. (Maher) Callahan, 84, of Quincy, were held June 4 in McDonald Keohane Funeral Home, North Weymouth.

Mrs. Callahan died May 27.

She was fiercely devoted to her family. She enjoyed traveling the world with her sister and was always on the lookout for a great deal at local yard sales and flea markets. Mrs. Callahan will be remembered as kind and loving with a great sense of humor.

Beloved longtime companion of the late Philip Doyle. Devoted mother of William J. Callahan, Jr. and his partner Leo Pery of Rockland, Leeann Sorensen and her husband Leonard of Braintree, James Callahan and his wife Annmarie of Weymouth, Robert Callahan and his wife Kathleen of Weymouth and Edward Callahan of Braintree. Cherished grandmother of Nicole, Lenny Jr., Lily and great-grandchildren Zoe and Leo. Loving sister of the late Gail Drummey of Weymouth, Joan Clifford and her husband Arthur of Randolph. Dear aunt of Maryann Scolaro and William Drummey, both of Weymouth. She will be missed by her lifelong group of friends.

MARY M. CALLAHAN

Memorial donations may be made to Make-A-Wish Massachusetts and Rhode Island, 133 Federal St., 2nd Floor, Boston, MA 02110.

Virginia Mary 'Gini' Connerty, 69

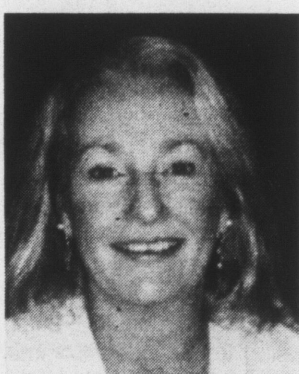

A funeral Mass for Virginia Mary "Gini" (Welch) Connerty, of Raynham, formerly of North Quincy, will be celebrated Saturday at 10 a.m. at Divine Mercy Parish in Sacred Heart Church, Quincy. Guests are invited to go directly to church.

Mrs. Connerty died peacefully June 4 at the Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston. She was 69.

Gini was the beloved wife of the late John "Jay" Connerty, who died in 2010. The two married on June 12, 1976 at Sacred Heart Church, Quincy. Together they shared 34 loving years of marriage. She was the devoted mother of Christopher J. Connerty and his wife Nora, Meaghan V. Finnegan and her husband Patrick and Erin C. Krajci and her husband Patrick. Gini was the proud "Nana" of Grace, Chapman, Claire and Mary Kate Connerty, Maeve Finnegan and Claire and Caroline Krajci. She was the dear sister of Joan Sacchetti and her late husband Richard, Elaine Buonvicino and her husband Richard, Robert Welch, Marie Stewart and her husband Paul and the late William Welch. She is also survived by many loving nieces, nephews and close friends.

Born in Boston on Sept. 25, 1951, Gini was the daughter of the late Charles and Virginia (Dauphinee) Welch. Gini attended local schools and graduated from North Quincy High School with the Class of 1969. Following high school, she earned her degree in Nursing from Quincy College. Gini worked as a registered nurse with South Shore Hospital in Weymouth, retiring in 2013 after passionately serving the South Shore community for 35 years.

Gini dedicated her life to her family. Her fondest memories were spent with them, whether traveling to Ireland or Nantucket, sailing

VIRGINIA CONNERTY

"Sweet Virginia", or spending holidays at Jennings Drive. In recent years, Gini was at her happiest when surrounded by her children and grandchildren whom she adored. She was an avid Boston sports fan, and especially loved watching the Red Sox, Patriots and Bruins with her family.

Gini was a kind, loving and selfless person. She went out of her way to make others feel loved, one of the many reasons people were drawn to her. Although she will be greatly missed by all the lives she touched, she is now happily reunited in Heaven with her "Jay Jay."

Visiting hours are 4 to 8 p.m. Friday in the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Quincy.

Interment will be in Pine Hill Cemetery, Quincy.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be sent to The Greater Boston Food Bank, 70 S. Bay Ave., Boston, MA 02118.

A funeral Mass for Sally M. (Faiella Spadorcia) Saluti will be celebrated Thursday at 9:30 a.m. in St. John the Baptist Church, Quincy.

Mrs. Saluti died peacefully home in the loving arms of her beloved daughters on May 30.

Born May 9, 1923 to the late Mary M. (LoDico) and Americo C. Faiella of Quincy. She grew up and lived much of her life in her childhood home on South Walnut Street in Quincy. Mrs. Saluti was proud and honored to share stories about her family's Italian heritage. Describing the immense love she had for her family, both past and present was bountiful. Her most prized accomplishment was raising her daughters. Elizabeth and Paula were at the center of her world each and every day. Sally worked as a crossing guard, known lovingly as Miss Sally at Massfield School in Wollaston when her children were young, and finished out her working career as a payroll clerk at the South Postal Annex Boston.

Celebrating Mrs. Saluti's 98th birthday this past May was a special reminder that life is precious and valuable. Mrs. Saluti lived fruitfully knowing her family was beside her throughout her amazing life. Baking, bowling, reading, word puzzles, playing go fish, watching the Wheel and sharing her views on world events are some of her pastimes. She had a kind, yet stern knowledgeable way to teach life lessons and offer advice. Visiting with family over a cup of coffee (rocket fuel) and fresh baked Italian biscotti was Mrs. Saluti's ideal start to the day. Her passions were writing poetry and song which she shared lovingly with her family. Singing "Good Moring to You!" or "When You're Driving" to name a few. Sally was "The Great Oak" strong and tall; she was a queen!

Sally M. Saluti

She is predeceased by her late husband, the love of her life, Albert P. Spadorcia, her second husband John Saluti and longtime partner Chester E. Bakaur. Survived by her cherished and devoted daughters Elizabeth M. (Spadorcia) Marini of South Weymouth and Paula F. (Spadorcia) and her husband Umberto Cristina who was a loving son in law of Whitman. Devoted grandmother (Grambo) to Jessica Cristina and James Murphy, Laura and Lamarr Lee, Alicia and Wayne Miller, Andrea and Eric Finn, Daniel II and Jill Marini, Paul and Stephanie Cristina and Aimee and Eric Dowd, her great grandchildren: Jarrod, Haley, Brittney, Myah, Nina, Autumn, Paul Jr., Lamarr Jr., Reese, River, Leland, Adriana, Logan, James Jr., Daniel III and great great granddaughter Audrey Beth. Also survived by her loving sister in law Alice Faiella, countless nieces, nephews and cousins both near and far. Predeceased by her loving siblings Norma Proto and husband Joseph, Louie Faiella and Frances Andronico and husband Leo and her precious niece Linda Proto and son in law Stephen Otis.

"Youhoo" was her way of saying hello and "So Long" was her goodbye.

Visiting hours were 4 to 8 p.m. Wednesday at McDonald Keohane Funeral Home, South Weymouth.

Relatives and friends will gather in the funeral home at 8:30 a.m. on Thursday prior to the funeral Mass.

Interment at Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Memorial donations may be made to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, 501 St. Jude Place, Memphis, TN 38105.

In Loving Memory of
ROBERT F. MUDGE
20 Year Anniversary - Feb. 22, 1962 - June 13, 2001

If we could have a lifetime wish that would come true, we'd pray to God with all our hearts for yesterday and you.
If love alone could have saved you, you never would have died.
A thousand prayers can't bring you back, we know because we've tried.
You left behind our broken hearts and happy memories too.
But we never wanted memories, we only wanted you.

Poem recited as part of Bob's eulogy by F. Reynolds

Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by his family and friends, especially his brother Richard, sister Janine and Rob's sons, Ryan and Christian.

Quincy Point Congregational

Quincy Point Congregational Church will celebrate Music Sunday two different ways at 10 a.m. on June 13: in-person outdoor worship at 444 Washington St. (on the Abbey Road side of the building) or online worship on The Quincy Point Congregational Church YouTube page.

As of now, it is projected to have outdoor worship each week in June, but things can change, so stay tuned to the church Facebook and Twitter pages. You can also add yourself to the e-mail list to receive updates by visiting www.quincypointcong.org and filling out the form on right hand bottom of page.

Church School for All –

Summer edition airs at 9:15 a.m. on the Quincy Point Congregational Church YouTube channel on Sundays. The Summer series is based on the book by Charles Swindoll, "Paw Paw Chuck's Big Ideas in the Bible" and this week Deanna VanSchagen will read, "The Good News Bears," a story about trusting God. Little Landon remembers the story of David and Goliath as he puts his trust in God during a big moment in the game. Due to copyright guidelines from the publisher this video is designated as "unlisted" so the church will need to email you a link to the video. The instructions to make sure you are on the mailing list are above.

Better Ways To Spend Money Than Bridge From Boathouse To Pine Island

Dear Editor:

I am writing in regards to Pine Island, located in Blacks Creek. This is an island that has been primarily untouched by man. Teenagers have been known to drink there and environmentalists and bird watchers occasionally visit. I am vehemently opposed to the massive bridge that the Mayor intends to build from the Ryan Boathouse across to this island.

When Caddy Park was rebuilt the project was stopped and state archaeologists uncovered 256 native artifacts from 3500 years ago and speculated that the area could have been a burial ground.

Living in the area and enjoying all that the estuary has to offer; Blacks Creek is accessible from White Rock, Caddy Park, Merry-mount Park and along Furnace Brook Parkway. Let me suggest that Pine Island be left untouched in honor of the original people that lived on this land.

We have Caddy Park in honor of Billy Caddy, White Rock that honors the Sailors from the Civil War. Why not leave Pine Island untouched and erect a monument to the first people?

And lastly we obtained the 90-page report from Tighe & Bond, and understand that comments must be made to MEPA by June 15, 2021, which we plan to do.

My husband would like to know why this report refers to this bridge as a "pedestrian walkway" when it is 16 feet wide, 450 feet long and pilings will be driven into our beautiful estuary at every 9 feet - allowing for SUVs to travel to Pine Island. We want to know WHY? Why this project, we are sure the cost will be into the millions of dollars and we think the Mayor could find a better way to spend money, especially during a pandemic.

To the named Respondent and all other interested persons, a petition has been filed by Yanli Zhang of Quincy, MA in the above captioned matter alleging that Xiaohong Lin is in need of a Guardian and requesting that Wenbo Chen of Quincy, MA Shuwei Lin of San Gabriel, CA (or some other suitable person) be appointed as Guardian to serve on the bond.

The petition asks the court to determine that the Respondent is incapacitated, that the appointment of a Guardian is necessary, and that the proposed Guardian is appropriate. The petition is on file with this court and may contain a request for certain specific authority.

You have the right to object to this proceeding. If you wish to do so, you or your attorney must file a written appearance at this court on or before 10:00 A.M. on the return date of 06/30/2021. This day is NOT a hearing date, but a deadline date by which you have to file the written appearance if you object to the petition. If you fail to file the written appearance by the return date, action may be taken in this matter without further notice to you. In addition to filing the written appearance, you or your attorney must file a written affidavit stating the specific facts and grounds of your objection within 30 days after the return date.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The outcome of this proceeding may limit or completely take away the above-named person's right to make decisions about personal affairs or financial affairs or both. The above-named person has the right to ask for a lawyer. Anyone may make this request on behalf of the above-named person. If the above-named person cannot afford a lawyer, one may be appointed at State expense.

WITNESS, Hon. Patricia Gorman, First Justice of this Court.

SS Bank Presents Diamond Award To Restaurant Owner Leo Keka

South Shore Bank recently presented its inaugural Diamond Award to Leo Keka, owner of Alba restaurant in Quincy.

Keka was honored for his generosity and commitment to helping people impacted during the pandemic. South Shore Bank created this award to honor clients who demonstrate leadership and charitable giving within the community.

"Leo's selfless actions helping others while he struggled to keep his own business alive was amazing to see," said South Shore Bank CEO James Dunphy. "We are proud to have Leo as a client because he exemplifies our own 'Sharing Success' philosophy. He is the perfect first recipient of our Diamond Award."

Ask Alba Restaurant owner, Leo Keka, what matters to him and one word comes to his mind – "community." That is what he believes is the reason for the sustainability of his long-standing restaurant in Quincy Center – an important anchor business in that neighborhood and Alba on 53 in Hanover, a Mediterranean steakhouse. It is also a key reason that he trusts South Shore Bank for his business and personal banking relationships.

"I know my customers and that is why we're still around – and that's what I need from my bank. When I first met Jim (Dunphy), I knew he was genuine in wanting my business and would keep his word. They have my back, and as a business owner that's important for everything I do," Keka said.

For Keka, South Shore Bank's actions during the pandemic were yet another example of the bank's outstanding service. "I have been a client for over five years, and when the shutdown occurred in March, South Shore Bank called me right away and asked, 'What can we do to help you survive?'" Keka said. "I was so thankful."

South Shore Bank assisted Keka in getting a Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) loan through the Small Business Administration.

"It was incredible to see how on top of it the bank was. They didn't just help me, they helped over a thousand businesses obtain loans. They were there for people during a terrible time. When you are making money, it's easy for people to be there for you. When you're losing money and someone is there for you, it shows true dedication and integrity," says Leo.

Dedication and integrity are qualities that Leo embodies. When Alba's loyal customers showed their support by buying over $30,000 worth of gift cards before the holidays, Leo gave all the gift card money to his employees. "People needed some happy news," says Leo. "I wanted to thank my staff for successfully battling through a devastating year."

Giving back is important to Keka, who is truly living his dream. Thirty years ago, Leo came to America from Albania under challenging circumstances. Living under a violent dictatorship, at age 22 Leo fled the oppression in Albania. Under fire, he swam across a lake to Yugoslavia. He was then held for months in a refugee camp until a charity flew him to freedom and citizenship in the United States.

Needing a job, Keka looked to the restaurant business, as he had always loved food and wine. He spent seven years working at Anthony's Pier 4, and then four years at Grill 23. The full extent of his dream came true in 2001 when he opened Alba. His goal was to create a place on the South Shore that had the same high-end food, atmosphere, and wine as Boston restaurants, and he has delivered. The upscale restaurant and steakhouse has one of the most extensive wine lists in the entire state and offers dry aged steaks, as well as top-tier seasonal seafood, house-cured charcuterie and custom desserts. Alba on 53 also offers this same unparalleled food, atmosphere and service that keep customers coming back.

"People work very hard," Keka says, "and when they treat themselves to something special by going to a nice restaurant, it's up to us to make sure they're enjoying themselves."

Keka said he is thrilled that his restaurants are open and operating.

"South Shore Bank's assistance with obtaining the PPP loan during the shutdown helped us stay in business. I have been with several local, national and international banks, and South Shore Bank is the best I've ever worked with.

"As my businesses grow, I have South Shore Bank's full support. I get attentive service from all levels; from the moment I walk in the door. They care about my success, and they care about the South Shore's success. It is truly a community bank," he added.
